Federal Directory

OF NEWCASTLE & DISTRICT

1901

This facsimile edition of "The Federal Directory of Newcastle and District 1901" has been produced to mark the 90th Anniversary of the partnership of Herbert John Cannington and Alfred William Davies, from which the printing company of Davies & Cannington Pty. Limited has grown.

The original Directory, compiled by John Windross and printed at "THE FEDERAL PRINTING WORKS" of Davies & Cannington, was issued simultaneously with the establishment of the Federal Parliament.

A glance at the index to this Directory reveals a remarkable chronicle of people, places and events associated with the early history of Newcastle and its environs.

Readers will be rewarded for time spent in scanning the numerous pages of historical data.

WE ARE NOW ON THE THRESHOLD OF A DECADE, which when completed, will record a century of printing service to Newcastle and the Hunter region, and now extends to all States of the Commonwealth.

This facsimile edition of the "Federal Directory of Newcastle and District 1901", (originally printed by us in that year, and issued simultaneously with the establishment of the Federal Parliament) has been produced to mark the 90th Anniversary of the partnership of Herbert John Cannington and Alfred William Davies, from which the printing firm of Davies & Cannington Pty. Limited had its genesis.

A glance at the index to this Directory reveals a remarkable chronicle of people, places, and events associated with the early history of Newcastle and its environs.

We are confident its readers will be rewarded for time spent in scanning its numerous pages of historical data.

PREFACE.

THAT there has long existed a necessity for a complete and comprehensive Directory of the City of Newcastle and surrounding Districts we are perfectly assured. Business people have approached us, on many occasions, suggesting the publication of such a necessary work; and we think it will be readily admitted that, in venturing to produce THE FEDERAL DIRECTORY OF NEWASTLE AND DISTRICT, we are endeavoring to supply that which has been a much-felt want of many years. We confidently introduce the present work to the public, feeling satisfied that our efforts to make it as complete as possible, as a handy business book of reference, will be appreciated.

No difficulty will be experienced in tracing localities or names, as the work is so in lexed and arranged alphabetically that quick reference to any desired subject will be found a matter of absolute simplicity.

The initial publication of a book of this character always entails a vast amount of labor, and difficulties have to be met in the first number which succeeding issues are invariably free of; so that, in launching our first volume, we do so, trusting that it will prove to be what we have endeavored to make it—a Complete Directory of the City and surrounding Districts—with the promise that the succeeding numbers will be issued by us with a sincere endeavor to note and encourage local and district improvements, and as far as possible to make our DIRECTORY a popular aid to Social and Commercial progress.

DAVIES AND CANNINGTON,

45 King Street, Newcastle, Proprietors.

March 1st, 1901.

EDITORIAL.

IN collecting, compiling, classifying and arranging the FEDERAL DIRECTORY of Newcastle and District for its inaugural year, 1901, I have endeavoured to make the work as true a guide to both business men and residents of the district as it was possible to do.

In order that the DIRECTORY should issue simultaneously with the establishment of the Federal Parliament, the time allowed me (a little over three months) for placing the work completed into the printers' hands necessitated a severe strain, which, however, was materially lessened by the kind assistance I received from public and private men throughout the districts treated with. Having had no precedent to go by or fall back upon from start to finish, it can easily be realised the amount of work entailed in the collection of information, to say nothing of the classification (alphabetically and otherwise) and arrangement of the contents. This, combined with the short time allowed for completing the work, severely handicapped me, and I could not have completed the task, had it not been for the kind co-operation and assistance rendered by the various municipal and public bodies under whose patronage the DIRECTORY is published,—as well as from other public and private sources.

I wish specially to tender my sincere thanks to the Hon. J. L. Fegan (Minister for Mines and Agriculture), Mr W. T. Dick, M.P., the members of the Police Department throughout the district (especially Sub-Inspector Hinds), the various Mayors and Council Clerks, Postal Officials, and to all who gave me most valuable and ready assistance, enabling the work to be compiled in what undoubtedly is record time for this class of book.

In preparing a work of this description a difficulty is always experienced in making the information it contains interesting to persons outside of the districts dealt with, who are not interested in local affairs. This I have endeavoured to overcome by the introduction of a quantity of descriptive matter dealing with our great coal fields, and other interesting information, which, had time and space been available, I should like to have dealt with at greater length, taking in a wider range. Under existing circumstances, the best that could be done has been accomplished.

The proofs as received from the printers, have been submitted to the leading authorities in the various centres, revised and verified, and every care has been taken to correct errors and make the work a reliable guide to the district. Should any such errors be discovered, I would deem it a favor if their nature and position were pointed out. In conclusion, I trust that the work may fulfil the object for which it has been compiled.

NEWCASTLE.

To say that the world-renowned seaport of Newcastle has, by its phenomenally rapid development, earned the justly-deserved appellation of the "Second City of New South Wales" is simply the truth. When it is considered that on several occasions its annual export and shipping trade has exceeded that of Sydney, it may safely be predicted that ere long this great emporium of the coal trade in the Southern Hemisphere will outstrip the Mother City of the State in this respect, more particularly when it is rapidly becoming the port of shipment for nearly all the wool grown in the north-western and northern districts of the State. An idea of the vast extent of the coal trade may be formed from the fact that during the year 1899 (when the last return was made) no less than 3,259,708 tons of coal, valued at £1,005,420, were won in and around Newcastle, and that to achieve this about 8,000 men were employed above and underground. The machinery and appliances for loading coal, it is safe to say, are far and away superior to any other south of the Line, comprising as they do twelve Hydraulic Cranes and three Steam Cranes on the Dyke, and others at Stockton, A.A. Co.'s and Hexham, to say nothing of many other up-to-date appliances used for labor-saving purposes. Most of the principal Collieries, with the exception of Stockton, are connected by private lines with the Great Northern Railway. The export of live stock has increased enormously of late years, and during 1900 3,306 horses, 7,308 cattle, 27,491 sheep, and 2,205 pigs were shipped. The wool export trade is another great factor in the prosperity of Newcastle. Started in 1883, it has been gradually but surely increasing. The establishment of this industry has been the means of attracting magnificent cargo-carrying steamers of the largest tonnage to visit Newcastle, and hundreds of men to be employed in the trade. A large sum of money is thus caused to be circulated. The number of vessels entering the port of Newcastle during the year 1900 was 1,542 with a registered tonnage of 2,161,026; the departures were 1,493 vessels with a tonnage of 2,087,319. These figures are exclusive of the coastal traders. Newcastle also possesses an admirable Towage service, consisting of powerful tugs, which efficiently perform all services required of them, both in towing into, out of, and about the harbour. As regards the City proper its growth, like its commerce, is truly astonishing. Fine buildings have during the last few years sprung up in every direction, and the new Post Office now in course of erection will be both an ornament and credit to the City. The erection of large Warehouses in many of the principal streets denotes greatly increasing prosperity, both of the City and surrounding districts. Among the many industries which have been established in and around the City which may be mentioned are Breweries, Carriage Factories, Foundries, Engineering Works, Biscuit Factories, Flour Mills, Shipbuilding, Copper Works, Sulphide and Nickel Works, and many other industries, all of which denote a truly progressive state, and point most unmistakably to the future greatness of the City of Newcastle and district as likely to be second to none in the Commonwealth. Indeed it may safely be predicted that as the newly-created nation advances, this City will not only become the great Coal Emporium but also the Shipping and Manufacturing Port for general commerce par excellence of Australia. But a few years back frozen meat was added to the export trade from the Aberdeen Freezing Works, and during 1900 49,066cwt. of beef and 69,975cwt. of mutton was exported. With the establishment of the Sulphide Works at Cockle Creek the export has also increased of gold concentrates, silver-lead and copper ingots. Various other items of interest connected with the district are dealt with elsewhere. The City, which was incorporated in 1859, is governed by the Newcastle Borough Council, and in 1900 was financially on a most satisfactory basis. The municipal valuation of that year showed the annual rental value of the Municipality household property to be £147,997 8s, with capital value of property £2,556,644. The area of the Municipality is 1,060 acres, through which 25 miles of streets run, valued at £86,500. There are 13 miles of sewers, 2,770 dwelling houses, with 3,212 municipal electors. The population of the City as taken by house-to-house canvas in 1900 was 15,000 persons. The City was lighted by gas from 1856 till 1891, when the electric light was substituted, and which has since been carried on by the Borough Council in buildings in Sydney Street. The wharves at Carrington Dyke are also lighted by the electric light, supplied from the Government hydraulic engine-house. The water supply of the City is under the control of the Hunter District Water Supply and Sewerage Board. Newcastle is the See of an Anglican Bishop, and is presided over by the Right Rev. G. H. Stanton, Bishop of the Diocese of Newcastle. The Newcastle Chamber of Commerce, Municipal and other bodies have all proved important factors in the advancement of the port. When the complete returns of the coal industry have been compiled, it is safe to say that 1900 will prove to be a record year in the trade of Newcastle. It is not intended to extend this brief introduction to what must in time become the Birmingham of Australia further than to add that Newcastle contains all the conveniences and materials for a large and prosperous City.

LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVES.—W. T. Dick (Newcastle East), J. Thomson (Newcastle West).

Two Sterling Remedies

Recommended by the Medical Faculty.

Messrs. W. H. SPROULL & CO., M's.P.S.,
Pharmaceutical Chemists, & Manufacturing Pharmacists,
NEWCASTLE, N. S. WALES.

GENTLEMEN,

It gives me much pleasure to testify to the undoubted merit of

SPROULL'S NEURINE,

I believe it to be a preparation of the greatest value, containing as it does a combination of the various hypophosphites with the best Blood and Brain Tonics, so blended together, that they form a mixture, which, in my opinion, has no equal.

That this will be found so, I may state nothing can excel it for all cases of Nerve Fatigue, Neuralgia, Nervous Headache, Nerve Troubles generally and debilitated condition of the system. By being a food to the brain and also a stimulant, it restores the brain to its normal condition and maintains it so.

It is also most beneficial for all Heart Troubles (organic and functional), Palpitation, &c. I cannot speak too highly of its value in all cases I have enumerated, and I am sure those who take it will fully appreciate what I have said of its merits.

WILLIAM CLARKE,
NEWCASTLE. M.A. Cantab., M.R.C.S. Eng., L.S.A. Lond., J.P., &c.

SPROULL'S

MALT LUNG BALSAM.

Medical authorities agree that, to relieve the cough (one of the attendant symptoms of Throat and serious Chest and Lung complaints) is urgent, but difficult, without injury to the patient or without diminishing the chances of recovery.

Opium, in some form, is the Quack's favourite specific. But, though it apparently relieves the cough, it depresses nervous energy, checks all secretions, chokes the air passages and aggravates the disease by increased inflammation.

SPROULL'S MALT LUNG BALSAM presents demulcent, expectorant and pectoral ingredients of superior therapeutic efficacy, with a nutritive malt extract rich in phosphates, and is free from opium or any deleterious ingredient. It promotes the secretion of bronchial mucous, soothes and heals, and is eminently efficacious in Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Croup, Sore Throat, Loss of Voice, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Inflammation of the Lungs, Influenza, &c.

For delicate children it is a safe, reliable and pleasant Bronchial and Pulmonic Balsam

Price, 1/6 & 2/6 Bottle. Originated and exclusively prepared by Wm. H. SPROULL & CO., Chemists & Pharmacists.

ADAMSTOWN.

[INCORPORATED 31ST DECEMBER, 1885.]

Distance from Newcastle, 4 miles. Population, in 1891 census, 2,030. In 1900 the Council Clerk (Mr. W. Brown) made a house-to-house canvas, and found the population had increased to 2,112. It is within the electoral district of Kahibah. The town is surrounded by Coal Mines, of which seven are constantly in work, affording employment to the bulk of the inhabitants. Communication with the city is maintained by rail (Sydney-Newcastle line), tramway, which was officially opened by Mr. E. W. O'Sullivan, Minister for Works, in August, 1900, also by omnibus. The opening of the tramline marked an important era in the history of this suburb. There are three reserves for recreative purposes, a large Public Hall, Church of England, Primitive Methodist and Lay Methodist Churches, large Public School, Fire Brigade, Mechanics' Institute, Post and Telephone and Money Order Offices, Council Chambers, and Brick Works on an extensive scale. The Municipal Valuation for 1900 showed: Municipal Household Property, annual rental value, £8,288; Landed Property, £11,122, capital value; Total Capital Value of Property in the Municipality, £152,720 There is considerable vehicular traffic through the town, which is situated on the main road to Belmont, Swansea, Charlestown, and Dudley, all popular drives.

MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT.—Mr. A. Edden (Kahibah).

CARRINGTON.

[INCORPORATED 1887.]

Distance from Newcastle, about one mile. Population according to 1891 census was 2,112, which increased to 2,505 in 1900, when a house-to-house canvas was made by the police. Carrington is situated on Bullock Island, and for many years was known by the native name "Onebygambia," and is about one mile by water in a north-westerly direction from Newcastle. It has made wonderful progress of late years, as will be seen by the fact that the population in 1881 was but 450, whilst in 1900 it reached 2,505 souls. The island, not many years ago, was but a succession of many swamps, roads through which were constructed by aid of retaining walls. Most of these swamps are fast disappearing, being filled in by ballast discharged from vessels, whilst a large area has been reclaimed by the Government by the employment of patent sand-pump dredges. Of Carrington it can truly be said that in its construction material from all parts of the world has found a resting place. Alongside of the wharves vessels from all directions discharge ballast, which is brought to good account by the Municipal Council for reclamation purposes. Communication is maintained with Newcastle on the water side by three lines of steam ferry boats, and on land by regular lines of omnibus. Several fine bridges connect the island with Newcastle, Wickham, and in other directions. Nearly all the coal and cattle exported from nort hern collieries and stations are taken alongside of the dyke, and from thence shipped to vessels,—theuformer by means of a series of huge cranes which are worked on the hydraulic system, the power being supplied from the Government engine-house, in close proximity to the wharf. There is over a mile in length of wharves, on which there are fifteen cranes. The coal yards and shunting ground of the Railway Department are also on the Dyke, which is connected with the main line by a branch from Hamilton passing through Wickham, and reaching the island by a fine bridge. Both the coal yards and shipping appliances are well worthy of a visit; the latter for several years have been worked by a Company (limited liability), the shareholders being the men formerly employed by private contractors. In addition to the railway and shipping works, there is an extensive foundry and engineering establishment (carried on by Messrs. Morison and Bearby), two collieries (Hetton, and Wickham and Bullock Island) both of which are situated within a few hundred yards of the coal shipping wharf. There are Churches of various denominations and two Seamen's Missions on the island. The municipal valuation in 1900 showed Capital Value of Household Property to be £135,750; Capital Value of Landed Property £39,449. There are 13 miles of streets in the municipality, and 644 municipal electors. A A small weatherboard building is at pesent doing duty as a School of Arts; there are several fine parks and places for recreation, Public and Private Schools, Council Chambers, Post, Telegraph and Money Order Offices, Police Station, etc., and the town is well laid out. The eastern portion of the municipality is illuminated by the electric light from the hydraulic works.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL (1900-1).—Mayor: Robert M'Court. Aldermen: J. S. Rodgers, T. Garrett, M. Light, James Morison, D. Murray, A Thornton, H. Graham and G Marsden. Inspector and Council Clerk, James L. Lawson.

CHARLESTOWN.

Distance from Newcastle about 7 miles, and situated on the main road to Dudley. Belmont. Swansea and other places on or near the south-eastern shores of Lake Macquarie. Like the neighbouring townships, Charlestown owes its rise to the collieries in its vicinity. the chief of which was that owned by the Waratah Company and Burwood Colliery, which is situated about one mile distant. For several years the township enjoyed a most prosperous time, which, unfortunately, did not continue, owing to the falling off of work at the coal pits. During 1900 a change for the better set in with the improved condition of the coal trade, and the township assumed some of its former activity. There are in the township two hotels, one place of worship (Primitive Methodist), School of Arts. Public School, Post, Telegraph and Money Order Office, and in its environs are situated Bull's famous Gardens. which are so popular with Newcastle people who can afford the luxury of a drive. Communication with Newcastle is maintained by omnibus, which ply at convenient intervals daily. It is within the electoral district of Kahibah, and enjoys a pleasant situation, being in close proximity to Lake Macquarie on one side, and the ocean on the other. Constable John shaw is in charge of the Police Station. A new Courthouse, built in 1900, will be opened this year.

DUDLEY.

Dudley is situated adjacent to the ocean, 2¾ miles from Charlestown. There are two hotels, four stores, two butchers, Public School, School of Arts, Post Office and Money Order Office. Like the neighboring township it owes its rise to the collieries in the vicinity, the chief of which is Dudley, situated in the township, with Durham, Burwood, and Burwood Extended in close proximity. Communication with Newcastle is maintained by 'bus, which ply at convenient intervals daily; there is also a workman's train daily. It is in the electoral district of Kahibah, and enjoys a pleasant situation. Being in close proximity to the ocean, with a splendid beach, Dudley is much appreciated by tourists and picnic parties. Population of Dudley and District, 1,100.

HAMILTON

INCLUDING

Broadmeadow, Newtown, The Commonage.

[INCORPORATED 11TH DECEMBER, 1871.]

Distance from Newcastle, 2 miles, in the electoral district of Waratah. On the date of incorporation the population was 560 souls, with 152 dwellings. According to the 1891 census it was 4,836, but in 1900 reached to 6,000. Communication is had with the city by tram (half-hourly), Great Northern Railway, and regular lines of omnibus, which pass through the town. Owing to its good roads, natural drainage, and pretty park, Hamilton has been designated as a model suburb. The bulk of the inhabitants are colliery and railway employees, and of late years many city men have taken up their suburban residences in and around Hamilton. The municipal valuation for 1900 showed:—Municipal household property, annual rental value, £25,501 5s 6d; landed property, £6,358 1s 6d, capital value; total capital value of property in the municipality, £618,515 1s 5d. The municipality has power to borrow up to £9,000. The area is 1,664 acres; there are 33½ miles of streets, valued at £26,470 3s 4d. The number of dwelling houses is 1,700, and there are 1,625 municipal electors. The town is lighted by gas. The thriving suburbs of Broadmeadow and Newtown come within the municipal area. A Mechanics' Institute, which cost £2,250 in erecting, stands in Tudor street, with a side frontage to Milton street; both reading room and library are well stocked. The Castlemaine Brewery is within the municipal boundary. Turkish Baths are situated on the main road, and not far off there is a Dominican Convent and School, presided over by the nuns of that order. In close proximity to the railway station stands the Newcastle Roller Flour Mills (a fine brick structure) erected in 1900 by Mr. Peter M'Intosh. The Agricultural Society's Grounds at Broadmeadow are also included in the municipality. There are Anglican, Roman Catholic, Presbyterian, Seventh Day Adventist and Wesleyan Churches, and the old Borehole Colliery, belonging to the A. A. Co,, is situated at Hamilton, which also has its own Fire Brigade. On December 5th, 1900, the new Public School (boys) was formally opened by Mr. A. Griffith, M.L.A., in the absence of the Minister for Public Instruction. The building is of brick, and in construction cost about £2,500.

MUNICIPAL, 1900-1.—Mayor, W. R. Alexander, J.P. Aldermen: Archibald Gardiner, Irvine Keddie (East Ward); William Roe, Alexander Stewart, William Arthur (West Ward); Thomas Jarvis, B. G. Pearce, and James D. Birrell (North Ward); Samuel Donn, Charles G. Melville, and James Sharp, jun., J.P. (South Ward). Sanitary Inspector, Thomas Curley. Council Clerk: James Ray.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—Hamilton Mechanics' Institute, Tudor street. J. J. Callaghan, president; J. Wallace, secretary.

FIRE BRIGADE.—Hamilton Fire Brigade: George H. Tudor, captain; Robert R. Wonders, secretary.

PUBLIC SCHOOL.—Hamilton Superior Public School: J. J. Callaghan, head teacher.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—W. R. Alexander, David Murray, James Sharp, jun., R. Woodward, Alexander Shedden, jun., Frederick Brogden.

Islington and Tighe's Hill.

Islington and Tighe's Hill are situated in the municipality of Wickham, the former about two miles from Newcastle, and the latter about half-a-mile further. Communication is had with the city by tram half-hourly, and regular lines of omnibus. Islington adjoins the municipality of Hamilton, and is also connected with the Great Northern railway line, the Hamilton station being situated on the boundary line of the two municipalities. Tighe's Hill derived its name from that of Mr. A. A. P. Tighe, J.P., who has for many years been identified with the rise and progress of the Newcastle district, and who at one time was Police Magistrate at Waratah, and also represented the district in the Legislative Assembly. Prior to the flooding of the Ferndale Colliery in 1886, Tighe's Hill was a flourishing suburb. That event, coupled with the stoppage of the Port Waratah Smelting Works, proved a severe blow to both Islington and Tighe's Hill, which, however, have in later years almost recouped themselves in other directions. Coalmining, Soap and Candle Factory, and the Railway Works all conduce to finding employment for the residents. There are numerous churches, halls, and places for recreation, as well as schools and recreative spots in the vicinity. Both places are within the electoral district of Wickham, under the Parliamentary representation of the Hon. J. L. Fegan, Minister for Mines and Agriculture.

LAMBTON (including Jesmond).

[Incorporated 24th June, 1871.]

Distance from Newcastle, 5 miles. Population, 1891 census, 3,434. Electoral district of Waratah. It is essentially a mining centre, and for many years the aggregate meetings of miners, on all important matters, were addressed from the rotunda in the fine park—33 acres. Jesmond is included in the municipality. Communication with Newcastle is maintained by the Wallsend and Plattsburg tram, which passes through, also by omnibus lines. There is an electric light plant (not in use at present), the property of the municipality, which was the first started in the Newcastle district. Through over-borrowing and troubles with mortgagees, the municipal authorities had a trying experience during several years, from which the town came into public prominence, and formed the subject for much debate at numerous municipal conferences. Last valuation showed: Municipal Household Property, £10,174, annual rental value; Landed Property, £9,105, capital value; Total Capital Value of Property in the Municipality, £201,960. There are some 14 Churches and places of worship, Music Hall, Assembly Rooms, Temperance Hall, Mechanics' and Miners' Institute, Post, Telegraph and Money Order Office and Savings Bank, Court House, Public Park, Fire Brigade, Council Chambers, and fine public schools and places of business, also soapworks at Jesmond. Court of Petty Sessions is held on Fridays only, and Small Debts Court on the first Friday in the month.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL, 1900-1.—Mayor: Matthew Thornton. Alderman: Stephen Hubbick. Council Clerk: Thos. Johnson (22 years).

LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE.—Mr. Arthur H. Griffith, Waratah.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—Messrs. A. L. Payne, G. E. Hardy, T. Evans.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER.—A. H. Buchanan.

POST AND TELEGRAPH MASTER.—A. Costyn.

MEREWETHER.

[Incorporated 20th August, 1885.]

Distance from Newcastle, 2 miles, with a population, according to 1891 census, of 4,700. Communication is had with the city half-hourly by tram and regular lines of omnibus. The populous suburbs of Glebeland, Burwood and Old Racecourse Junction are included in the municipality, which is situated on the Burwood Estate, the property of Mr. Merewether. The A. A. Company, the Newcastle Coal Mining Company and the Scottish Australian Coal Mining Company are working the extensive seams of coal found on the estate and within the municipal district of Merewether. The major portion of the inhabitants are employed in the coal-mining industry, though a fair percentage find employment in the extensive pottery works and brickyards in the municipality. There are nine places of worship within the boundary, including Church of England, Roman Catholic, Church of Christ, Wesleyan Methodist, two Primitive Methodist, United Methodist, Congregational, Baptist and Australian Church; a pottery on an extensive scale, also brick yard and tile works. There are several fine halls inclusive of the Mechanics' Institute and Temperance Hall. Numerous places for recreative purposes are within easy reach, embracing an excellent ocean beach and recreation reserves. NEW LAMBTON.

[INCORPORATED 8TH JANUARY, 1889.]

Distance from Newcastle, about 3½ miles. Stands on an elevation commanding a panoramic view of the surrounding district. Population at present, 1,464. Like its neighbours, it is entirely a mining township, and has within its bounds the Lambton Colliery, from which a considerable revenue is derived by the Municipal Council. The New Lambton Colliery is just outside of the boundary; though free from municipal taxation, it affords employment for large numbers of the inhabitants. The area covers 2,560 acres, and takes in the S. A. M. Co.'s Estate and portions of New Lambton and Waratah Land and Coal Co.'s Estate, also the E. and A. Copper Co. There are Primitive and Lay Methodist Churches, Temperance Hall, Post and Telegraph Offices, Council Chambers, including Mechanics' Institute, Reading Room, Fire Brigade, Public School, extensive colliery buildings, good streets, and many signs of advancement. The municipal valuations for 1900 showed: Municipal Household Property, £6,416 1s., annual rental value; Assessed Value of same on Appeal, £5,774 9s.; Landed Property, £4,790, capital value; Assessed Value of same, £239 10s.; General Rates, at 1s. in the £, for year ending February, 1901, £300 14s.; Total Capital Value of Property in the Municipality, £108,959. The Borough is now absolutely free from debt, and its roads are acknowledged to be equal to any in the district. A large amount of kerbing and guttering has been done, the guttering mostly being of concrete. The Council has a valuable gravel quarry from which the material for street-repairing purposes is obtained, also a spacious Council Chambers, erected at a cost of £550. There are four hotels in the Borough and two large halls, which are frequently let for entertainment purposes.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL (1900-1).—Mayor: George Errington. Aldermen: John Williams, Benjamin Bradley, John Butterworth, Charles Dagwell, Richard Lay, Michael Gray, Joseph Cartwright and Alexander Sneddon. Auditors: Thomas Owen and William Dent. Council Clerk: Henry J. Noble.

LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE.—Mr. Alfred Edden.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—Messrs. Thomas Croudace, Michael Gray, and George Errington.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER.—Mr. P. J. Ryan.

PLATTSBURG.

[Incorporated 27th December, 1876.]

Distance from Newcastle, 8 miles. Population, 1891 census, 3,300. Adjoins Wallsend, and has communication with Newcastle and intermediate townships by tram and 'bus. There is also a branch line of the Wallsend Coal Company with the Great Northern Railway, which, however, is only used for goods traffic daily, and passenger traffic by special train when required, such as the Wallsend Jockey Club Race Meeting days. There are Anglican, Roman Catholic, Wesleyan, Primitive Methodist, Presbyterian and Baptist Churches also Salvation Army Barracks, a Mechanics' Institute, Fire Brigade, Superior Public School, Post and Telegraph Office, Police Station and Court House, Co-operative Colliery and Coke Ovens, Public Parks, a splendid Racecourse, and the Wallsend Mining District Hospital in close proximity. There are a large number of hotels, and the principal business places of Wallsend and Plattsburg are centred in the town. The terminus of the Wallsend and Plattsburg Tramline is situated in the centre of the town of Plattsburg, and in close proximity to the Post Office, Police Station and Court House. The town is lighted by gas supplied by the Wallsend and Plattsburg Gas Company, and is in a flourishing condition. The valuation for 1900 was: Annual Valuation of Improved Property, £14,732; Capital Valuation of Unimproved Land, £6,497.

STOCKTON,

Including Fullerton Cove and Floating Population.

[INCORPORATED OCTOBER 14TH, 1889.]

Distance from Newcastle (by water) half-a-mile. Population, 1891 census, 2,416. Stockton is situated on the northern side of the Newcastle Harbour, on a peninsula of that name, and is in communication with the city side by two lines of steam ferries. There is also a horse ferry for vehicular and cargo traffic. Within its boundary there are the Colliery Works, Patent Slips and Ship-building Yards, Limeburning, Timber and Engineering Works, Anglican, Roman Catholic, Primitive Methodist and Congregational Churches, Salvation Army Barracks, Seamen's Mission House, Public School, School of Arts, Council Chambers, Boat Harbour, Dog Quarantine Station, Cemetery, and a most extensive block of Quarantine Buildings, which were erected in 1900. In the early part of that year the Bubonic Plague raged in Sydney, and threatened Newcastle; fortunately, it did not reach Newcastle, probably due to the extreme precautions taken. The hastening of the Quarantine Station must certainly be attributed to the plague scare. The introduction of such an institution at once did away with the great inconvenience and expense necessitated through having to send the crews of infectious disease-stricken vessels to the Sydney Quarantine Station as heretofore. The inhabitants enjoy a magnificent ocean beach, recreation reserves and river scenery. The municipal valuation of 1900 showed: Municipal Household Property, £11,046, annual rental value: Landed Property, £36,800, capital value; Total Capital Value of Property in the Municipality, £136,800.

LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE.—Mr. W. T. Dick (Newcastle East).

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—Aldermen E. Rees and C. Bruce.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER.—Mr. Walter M'Laren.

SCHOOL OF ARTS.—President, Alderman W. H. Goodman; Hon. Secretary, Mr. H. A. Graham.

REGISTRAR BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.—Mr. Charles Bruce.

* Mayor Errington having obtained leave of absence to visit South Africa, Alderman Warland was elected acting-Mayor.

WALLSEND,

Inclusive of Pittown and Brookstown.

[INCORPORATED 27TH FEBRUARY, 1874.]

Distant from Newcastle 8 miles. Population, 1891 census, 4,000. Communication is had with Newcastle hourly by tram and omnibus, and when necessary special hourly trams are put on, such as on the miners' fortnightly pay days. There is also a branch of the Great Northern Line entering the town, which is chiefly used for coal and goods traffic. On special occasions, such as race days, passengers are carried by special trains. This is one of the most prosperous mining towns in the district, a fact which is chiefly due to the extensive collieries surrounding, and which are constantly in work, giving employment to many hundreds of men. The Newcastle-Wallsend Coal Company's mine is within the municipality, as are also the Purified Coke Co.'s ovens. The town is lighted by gas, and is looked upon commercially as a go-ahead and rising place, like its neighbour, Plattsburg. There are numerous fine buildings, including two banks, Public School, School of Arts and Council Chambers, eight Churches, with an equal number of hotels; Wallsend and Plattsburg Agricultural Society's Hall, Wallsend Mining District Hospital, and other fine structures. The municipal valuation for 1900 was: Annual Value of Improved Property, £16.743 15s.; Capital Value of Unimproved Land, £3,547 10s.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL (1900-1).—Mayor: Ald. A. Drummond. Aldermen: H. Rushton, T. R; Davies, Wm. Wills, P. Bowling, H. Timmins, R. Maddison, Wm. Harris, Wm. Bower. Inspector, A. Cook. Council Clerk, Adam Cook.

LEGISLATIVE REPRESENTATIVE.—D. Watkins, Wallsend.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.—H. Rushton, Thos. Fryar, sen., Thos. Fryar, jun., Dr. H. K. Bean.

PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHER.—E. J. Byrne, principal.

POSTMASTER (Plattsburg).—W. Keohan.

WICKHAM,

INCLUSIVE OF

Linwood, Smedmore, Georgeville & Port Waratah.

[INCORPORATED FEBRUARY 27TH, 1871.]

Distance from Newcastle, 1 mile. Population, 1891 census, 6,586, but in 1900 estimated at 7,000. Communication with the city is had by tramway (half-hourly) and regular lines of omnibus. The municipality embraces Tighe's Hill, Islington, Linwood, Smedmore and Port Waratah, and has within its boundaries numerous factories, coal-mines, public schools, Churches of England, Baptists, and Primitive Methodist, School of Arts, Bank, Post, Telegraph and Money Order Office, Fire Brigades, Recreation Reserve at Islington, and Public Park adjoining the Council Chambers, on which there is a cricket patch and bowling green and other recreative spaces. The Municipal Valuation for 1900 was: Household Property, £32,911, annual rental value; Landed Property, £114.632, capital value; Total Capital Value of Property, £463,700. It covers an area of 986 acres, and has 10¼ miles of streets, valued at £26,900. The number of dwellings is 1,360, and there are 1,985 municipal electors. Gas is used throughout. Wickham practically is a continuation of Newcastle West, and enjoys the privileges of the city to a large extent.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL, 1900-1.—Mayor: Alderman John Kidd. Aldermen: John Gilbert, Thomas Frith, William Jameson, R. J. Bond, William Baskerville, James Myers, John H. Holt, John Welford, Benjamin Davis, James T. Croft, W. Fountain. Inspector: Stephen Richardson. Council Clerk: William M'Gregor Shedden.

MAGISTRATES.—Messrs. Peter Bennett, John Gilbert, John Welford, George T. Edwards, Thomas Proctor, Richard Jones, G. E. Redman.

Naval and Military Department.

NEWCASTLE DEFENCE FORCES.

Northern District Head Quarters: Bolton St.

The Voluuteer system in the defence of this colony commenced in the Newcastle district as far back as 1855, when the late Major Bolton was appointed to the command of 100 men, his officers being Captain H. J. Brown, Lieutenant Arnott and Ensign J. D. Langley. The present Battery of Volunteer Artillery was formed in the same year. Captain Holt was commander, his second in command being Lieutenant (now Lieutenant-Colonel) Kirkaldy. Ten years later saw the formation of the Naval Brigade, under the late Captain Allen; Captain H. R. Cross was first Lieutenant. The company mustered 60 men all told, and was possessed of an excellent brass band. The city is now strongly fortified. The forts at Fort Scratchley, on Allen's Hill, and one on Shepherd's Hill, command the coast, harbor, and city. The armament consists of three 9-inch muzzle-loading rifle guns, with a casemented battery of rifled 80-pounders; the whole is enclosed by a ditch and palisading, with the necessary loop-holes for armament. The range of the guns is so directed as to command any portion of the coast. They also cover the line of torpedoes which, when necessary, can be laid, and in such manner that they can be be fired instantaneously.

MUNICIPAL.

Newcastle was incorporated in 1859, when the late Mr. James Hannell was elected the first Mayor of the city. From that date the city improved with considerable rapidity. At the outset, the amount raised by rates was doubled by the Government, and this continued till 1864, when the subsidy was reduced to one fourth, and remained at that till 1873, when the recognised sum given was 10s for every £ raised by the municipality.

As the population of the district increased, the residents in the mining townships agitated to have their townships incorporated under the Municipalities Act. As the result of strong representation, Wallsend was incorporated in 1874; Plattsburg, 1876; Hamilton, Lambton, Wickham and Waratah, all in 1871; Adamstown and Merewether, 1885; Carrington, 1887; New Lambton and Stockton, 1889.

The financial position of the Newcastle Borough Council is now on a most satisfactory basis. At the last valuation in 1900 the municipality household property was valued at £147,997 8s, annual rental value; landed property, £90,028, capital value; total capital value of property in the Municipality, £2,556,644.

The revenue derived was as follows:—General rates, 1s in the £, £6,885 8s 2d; lighting rate 3d in the £, £1,721 7s 1d; actual revenue from Market property, £4,504 5s 6d; miscellaneous credits, £3,519 1s 1d; endowments, nil; total, £16,630 1s 10d.

The total capital value of the Council's property is £123,250, all freehold, and including 22 shops in the main thoroughfare, 2 wharves, the electric light plant and the Borough Markets.

The area of the Municipality is 1,030 acres; there are 25 miles of streets valued at £86,500; 13 miles of sewers valued at £18,500. The number of dwelling houses is 2,770, and there are 3,212 municipal electors in the Borough. The population in 1900 was 15,000 persons.

The loans of the Municipality total £50,400, the Borough having power to borrow up to £109,000. The greater portion of the present loans have been obtained at 5 per cent. interest. The property owned by the Council is calculated to return 6 per cent. on the money expended.

Newcastle was first lighted with gas in 1856, when the present gas company was formed, and success attended the concern as an investment. A change, however, was made in the lighting of the City in 1891, when the electric light was adopted. In 1890, the Newcastle Borough Council accepted the tender of Messrs. Wescott, Marshall and Adams for the work. Two Westinghouse compound engines were supplied with complete installation. The main streets of the city are illuminated by arc lamps, and all other portions of the Municipality by incandescent lamps. This light is the property of the Borough Council, and is supplied from buildings erected in Sydney Street. The shipping wharves at the Carrington Dyke are also lighted by the electric light. Wallsend, Hamilton, Wickham, Waratah, Carrington and Plattsburg are lighted by gas; Lambton Municipality has its own electric light plant.

The water supply of the City and district, which for several years was directed by the municipal bodies, is now under the control of the Hunter District Water Supply and Sewerage Board, which was established in the year 1893, and whose spacious offices are in Watt Street. The increased population of the district forced the Government for a general water supply, and, after many years' debating, a scheme was approved of which supplies Newcastle, the various mining townships and Maitland with filtered water derived from the falls beyond Buttai. For Newcastle and suburbs an immense reservoir capable of holding 500,000 gallons, is situated on Monument Hill, one of the highest portions of the City. With the establishment of the Water Board, the supply was increased, and the mains were extended in all directions including the wharves, where the shipping is supplied.

The following is a list of the names of the gentlemen who have filled the Mayoral chair at Newcastle from the year of its incorporation (1859) up to the present year:—

The returns, taken altogether, are the most encouraging published for years, and indicate allround prosperity. With an increase of £18,405 in revenue, it may be pointed out that under this heading every item shows an increase, harbour dues and pilotage earnings being prominent. The chief feature of interest is the coal trade, and in this connection it is gratifying to note that an increase of 543,575 tons is recorded. This establishes a record, being the greatest amount of coal yet exported in one year. In the intercolonial trade alone, the increase amounted to 349,566 tons, as against the previous year. In the foreign trade, Java, Peru, Chili and Sandwich Islands showed substantial increases, while Mexico, Panama, Singapore, Philippine Islands and the United States show decreases. The return of exports, other than coal, shows that an increase was made in the export of chaff, flour and wheat, the figures in these three instances being nearly doubled. Practically the same result is shown in connection with live stock, the export of cattle and horses having doubled, while five times the number of sheep were exported than during 1899. Less preserved meats were exported than usual, while the same may be said of frozen meats. So far, the wool season is incomplete, but up to date the export is considerably in advance of the figures for last year. Some of the largest exports are shown in connection with mineral products, the quantity of copper and bullion sent away from the port being considerably in excess of the amount exported in former years. Altogether, the increase amounts to £586,222, of which exports other than coal are responsible for £332,603. In imports, an increase of £57,687 is shown, the principal lines showing increases being drapery, ores and raw sugar, while a decline is noticeable in flour, oats and dressed timber.

THE BERTHING MASTER'S RETURN.

The following return, furnished by the Berthing Master (Captain Knowles), shows the work done at the Government Cranes and Wharves during the past twelve months, and the coal shipped, as compared with 1899. The coke and coal shipments are the largest ever made at the Dyke, and, considering that equal to one steam crane and one hydraulic crane have been out of commission during the year, owing to the presence of the dredges, the results are excellent. The coke and coal shipments, as compared with 1899, are as follows :—

	Coal.	Coke.
1900	3,036,519 tons ..	15,974 tons
1899	2,550,386 tons ..	16,521 tons
Increase ..	486,133 tons	Decrease 547 tons

In order to accomplish this result, 2919 vessels were loaded, and 287 stiffened. The number of lighters loaded totalled 241, while 1627 tugs and Government punts were coaled; and in all 415,566 waggons tipped. The cattle shipments include 48 bulls, 4226 bullocks, 1778 horses, 17,647 sheep, and 1885 pigs.

The following is a comparative statement of the coal and coke shipped at the Carrington Dyke, from December 31st, 1892, to December 31st, 1900 :—

Year.	Coal.	Coke.	Total Coal and Coke.
1893	1,666,865	10,346	1,677,211 tons
1894	2,105,474	11,581	2,117,055 ,,
1895	2,184,511	7,973	2,192,484 ,,
1896	2,224,741	2,126	2,226,867 ,,

1900	3,036,519	15,974	3,052,493 ,,

The work done during the past year reflects credit upon the entire staff. Captains Knowles, Cowan, Rosa, Donaldson and Crossland, together with the crane employees, having materially contributed to the successful results produced.

HARBOUR MASTER'S RETURN.

The following return, furnished by Captain Newton, Dep. Superintendent of Navigation, shows the number of vessels (coasters included) which have arrived at and departed from the port during the year 1900, as compared with 1899. The figures are taken from the books kept by the Signal Master (Mr. John Crapp), and are as follow :—

Population—1891 Census.

The enumerator for the electoral districts of Newcastle and Northumberland for 1891 compiled from his collective returns the following statistics, which will show the population, males and females, of each municipality, together with the population of each electorate, and the number of Chinese in the two electorates. The number of houses inhabited and uninhabited are also shown. This is exclusive of the floating population:—

Floating Population.		Land Population.
Males	738	Males	30,582
Females	14	Females	26,269

The difference between the total population in the municipalities and the total population in the districts of Newcastle and Northumberland is explained, of course, by the fact that all the townships in the country are not incorporated. The houses inhabited by Chinese are included in the general total of houses.

In order that a comparison may be made between the results of the local census for 1891, as given above, we subjoin the results of the census for the decennial period ended in 1881:—

CENSUS RETURNS FOR 1881.

Newcastle	8,986
Stockton	666
Hamilton	1,911
Onebygamba	805
Adamstown	561
Charlestown	268
Lambton	2,512
Minmi	1,160
Wallsend	1,059
	17,928

Places not specified in above were not taken in 1881 census, and were not considered of sufficien importance to be separated into districts.

Electorate of Northumberland ..	14,773
Electorate of Newcastle	15,596
	30,369

It will thus be seen that the population of the Newcastle and Northumberland electorates increased in ten years ending in 1891 by 26,482 persons.

The Coal Industry of Newcastle & District.

CONSIDERABLE diversity of opinion exists as to the actual date on which coal was first discovered in New South Wales. Records in the possession of the Government, which were perused by Mr. McKenzie, the late Examiner for Coal Fields, show that at the time of the discovery of the Hunter River in September, 1797, the outcrop of a seam of coal at a hill at the southern entrance to the harbour was found. This was afterwards named Allen's Hill, and subsequently Fort Scratchley. During the first thirty or forty years after the discovery, little was done towards developing this branch of wealth. The first shipment of coal from Newcastle was made in 1798, the year after its discovery. Coal was first procured by means of a drift made in the sea shore, penetrating a seam of coal that was visible in the sandstone that formed the south headland of the entrance to the Hunter River, and which is now known as Fort Scratchley. This was the only mine opened until 1817, and it was worked by convict labour. Subsequently the colliery, which was still worked by the Government, was extended by sinking a perpendicular shaft 111 feet deep, the coal from which being raised by a windlass. This shaft, which was opened by direction of Captain Wallis, the then Governor of the Settlement, was situated above where the Markets now stand in Hunter-street. As soon as Newcastle became a free settlement, the demand for coal increased, and as the price realised was 10s. per ton at the mouth of the pit, it was considered by the Government an important source of revenue. By this time (1823) the convicts had been removed to Port Macquarie, and as convicts were required to work the coal, a general order was issued that all refractory prisoners were to be so employed. In this way Newcastle again became practically a convict settlement, as the number of prisoners engaged in coal mining increased to over 250. In spite of the demand for the coal, the dangerous nature of the workings, and the unskilled labour employed, mining proved both costly and dangerous, and although the authorities did not pay much attention to the death or injuries of prisoners in the workings, a strong feeling prevailed towards abandoning coal mining by convict labour. In 1826, Mr. Bushby, a Mineralogical Surveyor and Civil Engineer, who superintended the pit, reported that he was in accord with the proposal to stop the working of coal by convicts, because the pits then existing were mere holes, and the men being unskilled, the work was not only costly but dangerous. He also said that the price of 10s. per ton at the pit's mouth was too high, but he was confident that if collieries were established under the supervision of competent managers, and the necessary capital invested in steam power and modern appliances, the industry would return interest on the capital expended. The opinion that the convicts would be better employed in road-making and harbour improvements rapidly gained ground, and at the end of 1826 the British Government decided to abolish coal mining in Newcastle.

In 1827 arrangements were entered into with the Australian Agricultural Company to lease the Government coal mines, but it was not till 1829 that the Australian Agricultural Company, at the request of the Home Government, took over the control of the coal mining in Newcastle.

The coal measures are divided into four groups, namely:—The Newcastle series, Greta series, Tomago and East Maitland series, and the Lepidodendron or Stroud series. Only the first two have been as yet worked in the Northern District—the Newcastle series containing several seams, the principal one being the Borehole or Wallsend. This famous seam, which is worked in nearly all the collieries, contains a fine brilliant bituminous coal of first-class quality, for gas, steam, household, and smelting purposes. Its maximum thickness is 22ft. 3in., and the average about 6ft. Its extent is unknown, and it is probable that the measures exist at a great depth, even as far south as Sydney. The No. 2 or Burwood seam has so far proved the next best of the series, but at present it is very little worked. Three more seams overlying the two former have been found near Lake Macquarie, and there is little doubt that others exist below them. A small quantity of inflammable gas exudes from the Borehole seam at some of the collieries, but with care when first found it is easily contended with.

The Greta series commence some 35 miles west of Newcastle, and have been traced to Maitland, where several collieries are at present working its seams. They have been proved to extend over a large area of country—estimated at 30 miles wide by 20 miles long, and are now being developed. The No. 1 Greta seam ranges in thickness from 20ft. to 6ft., but it has only been opened a few years. Its coal attained a world-wide reputation for gas purposes. Other seams, including a deposit of cannel coal, exist in this group.

An idea of the growth of the coal trade will be gleaned from the following figures, showing the total output of coal for the whole district at stated periods:—

Year.	Output.—Tons.	Year.	Output.—Tons.
1829 ..	780 ..	1891 ..	2,853,251
1850 ..	11,216 ..	1892 ..	2,611,731
1855 ..	117,076 ..	1894 ..	2,605,142

1887 ..	2,243,792 ..	1899 ..	3,259,708

The figures for 1900 have not yet been made up, but should show a substantial increase on any previous year.

THE AUSTRALIAN AGRICULTURAL COMPANY

Started colliery operations in the year 1829, and it is the oldest coal company in New South Wales. From 1829 till 1847 the Company held a monopoly of the coal trade of New South Wales, at which date the monopoly terminated with the concurrence of the Company, and soon after coal company after coal company started in quick succession till in 1901 (the year in which The Federal Directory of Newcastle and District was established) there were 58 collieries at work or in course of construction in the Newcastle district. In the early part of 1900 the Australian Agricultural Company had two collieries in work—the New Winning or Sea Pit, at which in 1899 employment was found for 548 men and boys. The Company turned out that year 326,170 tons of coal, valued at £103,025 2s. 10d. The No. 2 Pit, at Hamilton, is only being worked for pillar coal extraction, finding employment for some 90 hands. The famous Hamilton Pit, near the Glebe Hill, having been worked out for several years, was finally abandoned in 1899, when both shafts were filled in, and the whole of the surface arrangements dismantled. For the year ending December 31, 1899, this Company sent away 379,844 tons, valued at £119,690 2s. 0d., and gave employment to 638 men and boys under and above ground. The figures for the year 1900 have not yet been made up, but it is estimated that they will far exceed those for the previous year. Mr. Jesse Gregson is the General Superintendent of the Company, and Mr. Wm. Turnbull is the Colliery Manager.

SCOTTISH AUSTRALIAN MINING COMPANY.

The Scottish Australian Mining Company, better known in the district under the name of the Lambton Company, was formed in London in the year 1860, for the purpose of acquiring mineral property in the Australian Colonies. At that time the Lambton Estate was in the hands of Messrs. Morehead and Young, but shortly after its registration the Company took over the land. It consists of 1860 acres, and extends from the northern boundary of the Township of Lambton to the Waratah Company's land, a distance of nearly three miles. In 1861 Mr. Thomas Croudace, the present Manager and Engineer, arrived from England, and commenced the work of opening the mine. In 1863 the output was 3361 tons. In 1870 nearly 160,000 tons; while for the year 1867, 182,000 tons was won. In 1887, 167,355 tons were raised; in 1888, 164,048 tons were put out. During that year employment at the Lambton Colliery was found for 453 men and boys under ground and 69 on top, making a total of 522 employed in and about the mine. It is connected by a private railway with the Great Northern Railway, near Waratah, by which the coals are conveyed to be shipped at the hydraulic cranes. The coal from this pit is largely used for steam and household purposes. In addition to the Lambton Pit the Company have a large colliery at Durham, which has recently been re-named "Lambton No. 2," and is now being worked with every prospect of success. The machinery erected at this colliery has run the Company into an enormous outlay. It is stated by experts that the machinery appliances and plant generally is unequalled in the Southern Hemisphere.

The Burwood Colliery, which was opened in 1883 by the Burwood Coal Mining Company, was acquired by the Scottish Australian Mining Company subsequently. This mine, situated about 4½ miles from the cranes at Newcastle, 2½ miles of which run over their private line, is one of the most perfect in the district, every convenience for getting coal being in use. The quality of the coal is pronounced by the most competent authorities to be unsurpassed, and is one of the best steam and house coals in the district. Large quantities of this coal are exported to the neighbouring colonies, principally Victoria and South Australia, where it bears a great name, also to many far foreign markets.

At the Lambton No. 1 Colliery in 1899, 165 men were employed under ground and 40 above ground, making a total of 205 men employed in the colliery. During that year 85,932 tons of coal, valued at £31,650, were raised. During the same year Lambton No. 2 Pit (late Durham) gave employment to 45 men, 33 of whom were employed under ground and 12 above. The output for the year being 1799 tons, valued at £670. The Burwood Colliery in that year gave employment to 285 men under ground and 40 above, making a total of 325, who won 167,760 tons, valued at £59,011. The total returns for the three collieries being worked by the Scottish Australian Company show that they afforded employment for 575 men above and below ground. The output for the year under review amounted to 255,491 tons, valued at £91,332. The figures for 1900 have not yet been made up, but considering the unprecedented demand for coal during that year the output must show a considerable increase. Mr. Thomas Croudace, the General Manager and Engineer, represents the Company locally. Mr. Frank Croudace is the Colliery Manager at Burwood. Mr. Sydney Croudace is manager of B Pit; and Mr. Charles Noble holds a like position at Lambton. Mr. Thomas Muncaster occupies the position of Shipping Manager, whose offices are situated in Scott-street.

THE CO-OPERATIVE COAL MINE.

As its name implies it was originally held by a party of miners working in co-operation. On the 25th November, 1861, James Fletcher, Alan Wilde, Hugh Walker, Samuel Fletcher, William Wonders, George Curliss, Thomas Alnwick, Robert Forrester, Richard Peeks, William Davis, Duncan Cherrie, William Bower, James Richardson, Matthew M'Claren, and James Nelson, all thoroughly practical miners then working in other collieries, entered into an agreement, and worked until the mortgagee in 1869 foreclosed on the property, and the concern became a thing of the past.

The Colliery then passed into the hands of its present proprietor, Mr. William Laidley, who raised the output considerably. The late Mr. James Fletcher for many years after managed the mine, and in 1897 the output was 97,700 tons. From that year to the present time the Colliery has had a successful career. This Colliery possesses 1,700 acres, all coal land, situate 8 miles from Newcastle. They have in addition to the Colliery a number of coke ovens. The coal seam is 6ft. 6in. thick. The line of railway joins that of the Wallsend Coal Company, upon which their coal is conveyed to the Government cranes for shipment. The same proprietary in 1899 started to open out a new Colliery at Rhondda, close to Killingworth, which is situated near West Wallsend. A new branch line was constructed in the year 1900, connecting the Colliery with the Great Northern Railway at Cockle Creek. During the present year it is expected coal will be won in large quantities, which will assist in meeting the demand on the firm for coal. The Co-operative Pit in the year 1899 gave constant employment to 413 men in and about the Colliery. The output reached 187,224 tons, valued at £50,818. During 1900 the demand for Co-operative coal was exceedingly heavy, so that the figures for that year must show a large increase.

Mr. James Barr is the Manager for both collieries, and the shipping management is conducted by Mr. H. Hewison, at the firm's offices, Scott-street.

NEWCASTLE-WALLSEND COMPANY.

During the year 1860 the Newcastle-Wallsend Company commenced operations on some seven or eight hundred acres of land to the southward of the present town of Wallsend, eight and a-half miles from the present port of Newcastle. During the first years of its existence a general strike took place among the miners of the district, but, notwithstanding this, the output of the Company reached 43,273 tons. In 1862 that amount was increased to 124,218 tons. In the meantime the Company succeeded in purchasing the Weller's Grant of 8000 acres, thus increasing their Estate to nearly 9000 acres. This parcel of land extends from Cockle Creek to Hexham. A glance at the statistics of the Company show that in the year 1886, 483,884 tons, valued at £240,000, were won, while in 1887 it stood at 491,498 tons, valued at £247,595. In 1889 the output had decreased to 372,743 tons. The trade of the Wallsend Company is chiefly foreign, a great amount of its coal going to California, where it has gained an enviable name. A large quantity is also sent to America, India, and other places where it is equally well known. In 1899 the output was set down at 236,393 tons, valued at £75,104, affording employment for 657 men under and above ground. The trade of the Colliery for some reason or other was allowed to decrease. During the early part of 1900 a revival of this Company's trade set in, and vessels for Wallsend coal came to hand in such quick succession that the Colliery was taxed to the utmost in the endeavour to meet the demand. It might be mentioned that so great was the demand for this Company's coal that quite a large fleet of vessels were detained for several months waiting their turn for Wallsend coal. The Colliery is situated seven miles from Newcastle. The Company's private line, three and a-half miles in length, joins the Great Northern Railway a short distance beyond the township of Waratah, upon which the coal is conveyed to Newcastle and shipped at the Government cranes.

Mr. Alexander Ross is the Colliery Manager, and Captain H. R. Cross fills the position of Shipping Manager. The local offices of the Company are situated in Scott-street.

THE NEWCASTLE COAL COMPANY.

The Newcastle Coal Mining Company was formed in the year 1877, for the purpose of mining for coal from 1,400 acres of the famous Merewether Estate, at the Glebe. The Estate worked by the Company consists, as before stated, of 1,400 acres of leasehold from the Merewether Estate, and besides this the Company has the right to mine under that part of the ocean bed adjacent to their property. The grant was taken some years ago by Mr. Merewether, and extends along the coastline for a distance of 50 chains. The head office of the Company is in Scott-street, Newcastle, from which they have, like many other firms, telephone communication with their pits. Mr. Stewart Keightly is the General Manager. The Colliery Manager is Mr. Joseph Croft, formerly of Messrs. J. and A. Brown's collieries, and Mr. James Clayton is the Shipping Manager. This Company possesses over 2,000 acres of coal land, situate two and a-half miles on the S.E. side of Newcastle. It owns a private railway to the City, where at the Burwood and Hunter-street West Junction it is taken for haulage to the cranes by the Government engines. There is a large demand for this coal where its quality is best known, viz., New Zealand, Victoria, and South Australia. It is a first-class steam, gas and household coal. For the year 1885 the output reached 155,950 tons; 1886, 183,573 tons. In 1899, when the last return was made the output from A and B Pits amounted to 334,434 tons, valued at £109,314. In that year 829 men were employed by the Company. The figures for each Pit were as follows:—A Pit—328 under ground 88 above; total, 416. B Pit—327 under ground 86 above; total, 413.

BROWN'S COLLIERIES.

James and Alexander Brown, so closely connected with coal-mining in the Newcastle District, are credited with having broken the monopoly enjoyed by the Australian Agricultural Company in the early days of the industry. The brothers James and Alexander Brown arrived in the colony in the year 1839. At that time the Rev. Mr. Thelkeld opened a mine at Lake Macquarie, and Messrs. Turner, Eales, and others also commenced operations elsewhere. A serious difficulty, however, arose. The Australian Agricultural Company had, in 1829, purchased the Government Coal Mines subject to certain conditions and provisions, one of which was that the Company had the exclusive right to mine coal in the district for the period of 31 years. It was not, however, until the year 1844 that the Company made any attempt to enforce its rights, although in the meantime a great deal of trouble had occurred. In that year, however, the Messrs. Brown began to get coal at Four-mile Creek, near Maitland, and pressure was brought to bear on the Government by the Australian Agricultural Company to restrain them from continuing the work. In fulfilment of its undertaking with the Government, after long deliberation, took proceedings to stop the Messrs. Brown from mining. The now celebrated action of the Attorney-General against Brown was commenced in 1844, before the late Judge Dickinson and a jury, in the Supreme Court, Sydney. The information was one of intrusion for entering upon certain coal mines and veins of coal in the County of Northumberland, containing 60 acres, and belonging to the Queen. At the trial the Attorney-General proved that the land had been granted to one Dumaresq, from whom the defendants were lessees, but the Crown in the Deed of Grant reserved the mineral right, which had been given to another party, namely, the Australian Agricultural Company. The plea entered in defence was "not guilty." A verdict was given for the Crown on every point, and the defendants moved for a new trial, which was granted. The trial was heard in the Full Court, in January, 1847. The former verdict was upheld on every point, and in delivering judgment, Sir Alfred Stephen, then Chief Justice, said that in the Australian Agricultural Company's Act, "for the cultivation and improvement of waste lands in the Colony, it was enacted that the Company may lawfully hold all lands granted to them by His Majesty (George III), as the Company had the exclusive right to mine for coal under Crown Lands as well as that held by them, the defendants must be restrained from mining." The judgment, a very lengthy one, was final. Though restrained from mining at the Four-mile Creek, the defendants were by no means discouraged, and three years later they succeeded in making arrangements with the late Dr. Mitchell to work a portion of the Burwood seam which outcrops from the hills in that district. Soon after the termination of the law-suit the Australian Agricultural Company agreed with the Government to forego their monopoly, and thus ended the struggle. Since then the firm has expended a large sum of money in development. The coal from Duckenfield, Merthyr, and Minmi Collieries is an excellent steam coal, and of a first-class quality. The appliances for shipment are very extensive, consisting of the Brown's private staiths of Hexham and the Government cranes, Newcastle. The area of coal land is 5,000 acres, and is distant from Newcastle 13 miles. Messrs. J. and A. Brown have added still further to their extensive coal lands by purchasing the Richmond Vale Colliery Estate, which was sold by public auction for £39,500. In 1899 employment was found at the firm's Minmi Colliery for 440 men, 335 of whom were under ground and 105 above. The output for that year was 187,317 tons, valued at £56,855. The same year at the Duckenfield Mine 317 men were employed, who won 133,785 tons, valued at £40,605—making a total of 757 men employed. The total output reached 321,102 tons, valued at £97,460.

Mr. Richard Thomas is the firm's Colliery Manager. The Coal Shipping Branch is directed from the Head Office, Bolton-street.

WALLARAH COAL COMPANY.

The Wallarah Coal Company's property is situated at Catherine Hill Bay, south of Lake Macquarie Heads, where they have extensive works, also a wharf where large steamers and sailing vessels are loaded in fine weather. During 1899 employment was given to 235 men, who won that year 114,803 tons, valued at £32,867. Mr. Scobie is the manager.

SEAHAM COLLIERY COMPANY.

This Company possesses over 4000 acres, all coal land. The Colliery is situated 16 miles from Newcastle, and gives employment to nearly 400 men and boys. The mine is equipped in the most modern style. The Company's private line, five miles in length, joins the Government Railway at Cockle Creek. The coal is equal in quality to that of the best known mines; and the Colliery has a large trade intercolonially, and also in many foreign ports. The output for 1899 amounted to 179,597 tons, valued at £54,824, giving employment to 297 men under ground and 64 above, making a total of 361 men employed in and about the mine. Mr. Archibald Fairley is the Colliery Manager.

NORTHERN EXTENDED COLLIERY (LATE GARTLEE COLLIERY).

This Colliery is situated at Teralba, 12 miles from Newcastle, on the main line of railway Sydney and Newcastle. The coal is a first-class steam and household coal, making no clinker, and burning to a fine ash. In 1899 the proprietor (Mr. A. Sneddon) employed 80 men at the pit, 72 below ground and 8 above. The output for that year was 43,120 tons, valued at £10,780. Mr. Wm. Sneddon is the manager.

DUDLEY COLLIERY.

The main shaft is 630 feet deep, being at present the deepest working one in this district, nearly the whole of the work having been carried out under the supervision of Mr. H. Humphreys, late mine manager. The mine is connected with the Government Railways by a private line four and a-half miles long, and is distant from the cranes eight miles by rail. The coal being worked is an exceptionally good sample. The height of the seam is 6ft. 3in. of clean coal. At this pit a serious disaster occurred in the year 1898, when eleven miners lost their lives. The pit was sealed down for several months after. The output for 1899 was 54,147 tons, valued at £17,292. That year employment was found for 280 men, 238 of whom were engaged under ground and 42 on the surface. The shipping management is directed from the offices in Watt-street. Mr. James Henwood is the present Colliery Manager.

THE CARDIFF COLLIERY.

The Cardiff Colliery (formerly known as South Wallsend) was leased to Mr. J. Johnson, who was late Manager of the South Wallsend Coal Company, in January, 1891. After several changes the lease was in 1900 taken over by Mr. W. W. Johnson, of Wallsend. The coal produced from this mine is of a good description for household, steam, and smelting purposes, and, as such, found a ready sale in the Intercolonial and Eastern markets. In the year 1899 employment was found for 22 men, of whom 19 were engaged below ground and 3 on top. The output for that year was 758 tons, valued at £123 13s. 4d. The figures for 1900 have not yet been made up. Mr. Wm. Ledger is manager of the Colliery.

THE NEW LAMBTON COLLIERY.

In the year 1867 Messrs. J. and A. Brown commenced to work coal from the New Lambton Estate, which at present is the freehold property of Sir George Dibbs and the Hon. A. Brown. It consists of 1,225 acres, and is bounded by the Waratah Coal Company's land, while the Estate of the Scottish Australian Mining Company forms the western boundary. Prior to opening a mine the firm obtained a mineral lease of some 280 acres from the Government, and on this block, which lies to the north of the present Estate, the A Pit was sunk. Shortly after it was opened Mr. James Brown sold his share to the Company, and the new firm having purchased several blocks of land sunk a second shaft to the south of the old one known as the Hartley Vale Company. The output for both the mines was good, being in 1886 44,437 tons; in 1869, 108,702 tons; and in 1870, 117,962 tons. Owing to the inferior quality of the coal, the Hartley Vale Colliery was abandoned, and the firm put down the B or New Lambton Pit, which was opened about the year 1870. This mine was worked until the beginning of 1888, but the old Dog and Rat shaft was worked out in 1884. The B Pit was a very successful one. The firm have a branch line one mile in length connecting the Sydney-Newcastle Railway at Adamstown, the total distance to the pit being five miles. They have also a railway to the Old Pit, joining with the Government line at Waratah, but this is now very seldom used. Trade has been quiet at the Colliery for several years. The official returns for 1899 show that the output was 11,427 tons, valued at £4,070, when employment was found for 59 men. Mr. James Thomas is the Colliery Manager. The coal shipping is directed from the offices, Watt-street.

THE WARATAH COLLIERY.

The Waratah Coal Mining Company, now the property of the Caledonian Coal Company, is one of the oldest in the district, having been formed in the year 1863, for the purpose of mining coal under the Waratah Estate. Work was commenced by driving a tunnel into the outcrop of the Borehole seam, averaging 10ft. in thickness, with only three small bands being worked. The output for 1863 was 5,016 tons, but in the following year 59,912 tons were won. In 1872 the output was 167,794 tons; in 1873, 182,806; 1874. 177,538; and in 1875 160,303. The Company continued drawing coal from the adits until 1876, when the Estate was nearly worked out. A private railway was constructed from the colliery to the Company's shoots at the southern branch of the Hunter River, a distance of three miles. In 1876 they purchased a large Estate surrounding the Township of Charlestown, consisting of 2,600 acres, and adjoining the New Lambton Colliery. A shaft, then known as Charles' Pit, was sunk on the Gully or Burwood seam, a depth of 250ft., and 5ft. of coal was worked. This was practically the fifth Colliery opened by the Company, and it is now being worked by them. In 1885 the Company raised 68,760 tons; in 1886, 46,227 tons. The Company have 10 miles of private railway, including that connecting the old shafts with the port. The present line from Waratah Pit joins the Great Northern Railway near Hamilton, and the Company do their own haulage. In 1900 the official returns showed that during the previous year 272 miners were employed at the colliery, 223 under and 49 above ground. The output for that year was 121,052 tons, valued at £36,315. The management of the colliery is under Mr. Gibson Youll, and the shipping management is supervised by Mr. Geo. Bewick, at the offices, Scott-street.

WEST WALLSEND COLLIERY.

This Colliery is the property of the Caledonian Coal Company. It comprises about 2,945 acres of coal land, working the Borehole coal seam from a shaft 485ft. in depth 16½ft. diameter, air shaft 485ft. deep 10½ft. diameter. The ventilation of the mine is produced by a Guibal fan 30ft. by 8ft. During 1899 employment was found for 355 men, who raised 139,478 tons of coal, valued at £40,300. The Colliery connects with the main line at Cockle Creek by a private line of about three miles in length. Mr. Duncan M'Geachie is the Colliery Manager.

KILLINGWORTH COLLIERY.

This is a new mine recently purchased and opened out by the Caledonian Coal Company, working a seam of coal from a shaft 620ft. in depth, 16½ft. diameter. Ventilation is produced by two blowing fans 4½ft. and 3ft. 8in. respectively. The Colliery adjoins West Wallsend Colliery, and consists of about 2,560 acres. During 1899 there were 57 men employed in and about the mine, when the output was 9,000 tons, valued at £2,700. Mr. W. B. Pendleton, late of the Waratah Colliery, was appointed manager in 1900.

WICKHAM AND BULLOCK ISLAND COAL COMPANY.

The Wickham and Bullock Island Coal Company was formed in the year 1879, for the purpose of mining coal from two leaseholds. The well-known Throsby's Creek, which is 230 yards broad and 4 feet deep, divides the two Estates. A shaft was put down on one of these leaseholds, and the Borehole seam found to be 12ft. in thickness. The Company some few years after commencing operations obtained a large area from the Government, and their Estate has an area of 2,150 acres. It extends from the Harbour Basin on the south to Goat Island, taking in the whole of Bullock Island, now known as Carrington. About the end of June, 1884, they commenced to sink the present shaft close to the southern side of the Bullock Island railway, and started work. For the year 1886 the output of this colliery was 55,553 tons, valued at £26,229. In 1887 it was 59,553 tons; and in 1888, 68,240 tons. Being so close to the wharves the cost of haulage is reduced to a minimum, and is done by the Government at a low rate. In 1899 the output amounted to 195,829 tons, valued at £67,577 7s. 2d., when employment was given to 272 men, 48 above and 272 below ground. Mr. James Fletcher is the Colliery Manager, and Mr. J. M. Hyde Shipping Manager for the Company, whose offices are in Watt-street.

THE STOCKTON COAL COMPANY.

The Stockton Coal Company was formed in 1882, for the purpose of mining coal from the Peninsula of that name, which lies to the north of the Newcastle Harbour, and separates the Pacific Ocean from the estuary of the Hunter. The land is entirely composed of sand raised a few feet above the level of the sea, and is covered with low scrub. It measures six miles in length. The quicksand was proved to be held in suspension by water below the level of the sea, and the opinion is general that an underground current on-set exists between the Pacific and the Estuary of the Hunter. The Company, however, sank a shaft, and secured the right to mine the coal at a royalty from under 120 acres of the Quigley Estate, which was formerly the property of the late Dr. Mitchell. A shaft was commenced on the southern extremity of the peninsula at a point about 250 yards from the wharves, and about 400 yards from the ocean. Owing to the softness of the surface strata iron cylinders 15ft. in diameter and made of cast-iron 1⅛in. in thickness, and formed of rings 5ft. 6in. in depth, weighing about 8 tons, were sunk. Below that a 4ft. 9in. coal seam was found, but, wishing to strike the Borehole seam, work was continued through 265ft. of solid rock. The total depth of the shaft is 364ft, which makes it one of the deepest working in the Newcastle District. The seam is 29ft. 7in. in thickness, including a band of blue shale of 6ft. 6in. and other impurities, which leave nearly 20ft. of marketable mineral of the highest quality. In July, 1885, the Company began to win coal from their mine, and headings were driven in all directions for the purpose of thoroughly opening out the colliery. A short time after the opening of the colliery the Company succeeded in obtaining from the Scottish Australian Mining Company the right to win the coal from under 640 acres to the north of the colliery. The lease is held from the Government, and was acquired many years ago. Besides these two parcels of land the Company have also obtained over 1,000 acres of the Quigley Estate, north of the leasehold referred to. They have also an area of 680 acres under the ocean. In 1886 the total output raised was 84,459 tons, but in 1887 it was increased to 150,000, valued at £62,000. Being within a few yards of the harbour the Company are able to ship their mineral with but little handling, and at a very low cost. They have at the present time two staiths, at which the largest vessels can coal. The official returns for 1899 show that 98,173 tons of coal were raised, valued at £32,990 13s. Employment was given during that year to 326 men, of whom 274 were under ground and 52 above. At this colliery a lamentable disaster occurred in 1896, when eleven men lost their lives through the escape of foul air from old workings. Mr. James Fletcher, the present Colliery Manager, who is also Manager of the Wickham and Bullock Island Colliery, took charge in 1900. The Shipping Manager is Mr. J. M. Hyde, whose offices are in Watt-street.

THE HETTON COAL COMPANY.

The Hetton Coal Company was formed in the year 1885, for the purpose of mining coal at a royalty from under the estuary of the Hunter River, or more properly the Harbour of Newcastle. The area is of a semi-lunar form, and measures 1,600 acres, commencing outside the Harbour, and extending right up beyond the probable line of outcrop of the coal seam. It includes the Oyster Bank, which is a peculiarly exposed portion of the coast, and joins the ocean lease of the Stockton Coal Company. The depth of water in the Horseshoe Bend varies from 26ft. to 40ft., and this increases to over 80ft. at the eastern boundary beyond the Oyster Bank. It will thus be seen that the Colliery is a most remarkable one, and is unique among the collieries of Australia. For the purpose of getting at the coal the Company succeeded in obtaining an allotment of six acres on the marshes of Bullock Island, about 700 yards to the eastward of the Wickham and Bullock Island Colliery. Shortly after the present working shaft 16ft. in diameter was commenced only 200 yards north of the Dyke Engine-house, and within a stonesthrow of the wharves. Iron cylinders 1½in. in thickness with webs of flanges of adequate strength were sunk by pressure through the stratum of sand and mud 45ft. in thickness until they passed 20ft. into a deposit of pliable plastic clay. The method of sinking the cylinders was to force them down in advance of the internal excavation by the weights of as much as 600lbs. piled on the top ring. When they entered the clay the course pursued was to add plates to the cylinder as the stuff was dug out. After passing through the clay some 160ft. of hard grey post rock was passed through, and the Borehole seam found at a depth of 215ft. It is 21ft. 6in. in thickness including the bands, making the total depth of the shaft over 236ft. To obtain access to the coal under the Harbour the Company obtained leave to drive the winning headings under the wharves and hydraulic cranes; a work which has long since been accomplished. Being so close to the wharves the haulage from this mine is done very cheaply, the Company having several sidings, and a long distance of standing room, so that the Government engines can take the waggons to the cranes in a few moments. When the last official returns were made up in 1900, they showed that in 1899 the colliery employed 373 men under ground and 66 above ground, making a total of 439 employed at the colliery. The output for that year was 186,089 tons, valued at £62,007. Mr. Alexander Mathieson is the Colliery Manager, whilst the coal shipping is supervised by Mr. T. M. Brown.

STANFORD, GRETA.

This Colliery is situated at West Maitland. In 1899 there was won from this mine 1,035 tons of coal, of the value of £258 15s. There were employed 10 men, 6 below and 4 above ground.

TERALBA.

This Colliery is situated at Cockle Creek. In 1900 it was taken over by Mr. A. Snedden, who is having the water pumped out prior to starting coal-getting operations.

THORNLEY.

This Colliery is situated at East Maitland. In 1899, 1,133 tons of coal were won, of the value of £119 4s. There were employed 4 men, 3 below and 1 above ground.

WRIGHT'S.

This Colliery is situated at Waratah. In 1899, 55 tons of coal were won, of the value of £12 10s. There were employed 2 men below ground.

SOUTH HETTON.

This Colliery is situated at Toronto. During the year 1899, 804 tons of coal were won from the mine, the value of which was £124 12s. There were employed 3 men, 2 under and 1 above ground.

SOUTH WALLSEND.

This Colliery is at Cardiff. In the year 1899, 1,232 tons of coal were won from this mine, of the value of £308. There were employed there 35 men, 30 below and 5 above ground.

SHORTLANDS.

This Colliery is situated at Adamstown. In the year 1899, 2,740 tons of coal were won, valued at £502 4s. 10d. There were employed there 11 men, 9 under and 2 above ground.

SOUTH GRETA.

This Colliery is situated at Farley. In the year 1899, 12,000 tons of coal were won from this mine, of the value of £3,000. There were employed there 52 men, 40 below and 12 above ground.

OAKVALE.

This Colliery is situated at Singleton. During the year 1899, 793 tons of coal were won from this mine, valued at £257 1s. The number of miners employed was 10, 5 under and 5 above ground.

ROSEDALE.

This Colliery is also situated at Singleton. During the year 1899, 2,378 tons of coal were won, valued at £740 12s.

NEW PARK No. 2.

This Colliery is also situated at Singleton. In 1899, 12,393 tons of coal were raised, valued at £3,614 12s. 6d. The number of miners employed was 33—19 below and 14 above ground.

NORTHUMBERLAND.

This Colliery is situated at Fassifern. During 1899, 7,317 tons of coal were won, valued at £2,145. The number of miners employed there was 16—10 under and 6 above ground.

MORRISETT.

This Colliery is situated at Lambton. During 1899, 3,630 tons of coal were won, valued at £997. here were 7 men employed, all below ground.

NEW PARK No. 1.

MARYLAND.

This Colliery is situated at Plattsburg In 1899, 30,735 tons of coal were won, valued at £10,685 12s. 9d. There were 47 men employed, 38 below and 9 above ground.

MORRIS'.

This Colliery is situated at Lambton. In 1899, 101 tons of coal were won, valued at £45 19s. 6d There were 3 men employed, 2 below and 1 above ground.

JOHNSON'S.

This Colliery is situated at Wallsend. During the year 1899, 125 tons of coal were won, of the value of £25. Three miners were employed, 2 below and 1 above ground.

KAYUGA.

This Colliery is situated at Muswellbrook. During 1899, 815 tons of coal were raised, of the value of £250 2s., and there were employed in the mine 2 men, 1 above and 1 below ground.

HILLSIDE.

This Colliery is situated at Merewether. The number of tons of coal won in the year 1899 was 3,000, valued at £750. The number of miners employed was 7—6 below and 1 above ground.

INGANEE.

This Colliery is situated at East Maitland. During the year 1899, 1,000 tons of coal were raised valued at £125. Six miners were employed, 4 above and 2 under ground.

GRETA.

This Colliery is situated at Greta. In 1899 the quantity of coal won was 63,154 tons, valued at £13,563. The number of miners employed was 177—145 below and 32 above ground. In 1900 a sad disaster, resulting in the loss of four lives, occurred, when a fire took place, necessitating the sealing down of the mine with the four victims.

GUNNEDAH.

ELEMORE VALE.

GRANBALANG.

EBBW VALE.

This Colliery is situated at New Lambton. In the year 1899 the quantity of coal won was 17,464 tons, valued at £4,366. The number of miners employed was 32—30 below and 2 above ground.

ELECTRIC.

BAILEY'S REWARD.

This is a small Colliery, situated at Lambton, from which 325 tons, valued at £120, was raised in 1899, when 3 men were kept in constant employment. During 1900 the Colliery was abandoned.

BLOOMFIELD.

At this Colliery, which is situated near East Maitland, 3,500 tons of coal was won in 1899, the value of which was put down at £1,050. In that year employment was found for 16 men.

NEW ANVIL CREEK COLLIERY.

This Colliery is situated about a quarter of a mile south-east from Greta Station. There is a tunnel driven from the crop by which the coal is won. There are also two shafts down. The coal was awarded first order of merit Melbourne Exhibition, 1888. Of late years but little work has been done.

EAST GRETA COAL MINING COMPANY, LIMITED.

The East Greta Coal Mining Company, Limited, near West Maitland, are working a splendid seam of coal 42ft. thick. This mine was opened on 16th December, 1894. The seam is remarkable for its excellence as a gas and coke coal, and has come into high favour with Gas Companies owing to the abnormally high percentage of gas produced. In 1899 the output from this colliery amounted to 90,560 tons, valued at £19,228 6s., which gave employment to 235 men, 191 under ground and 44 above. Mr. R. Thomas is the Colliery Manager, and Messrs. Earp, Gillam, and Company are the local Shipping Managers, who direct affairs from their offices, Bond-street.

Extracts from Annual Mining Report, 1899.

"In the Northern District in 1899, whilst there were 48 more persons employed at the mines, there was a decrease in the output of coal of 95,892 tons.

The reduced output is to be accounted for by the stoppages of work at the Wallarah and Pacific Collieries in consequence of disputes, and also by short time worked at some of the larger collieries, especially Wallsend and Stockton."

Use of Safety Lamps, &c.

"During the year fire-damp has been reported under General Rule 4 at the following collieries, viz.: Metropolitan, Bulli, Mount Pleasant, Osborne, Wallsend, and Corrimal, in the Southern or Illawarra District; and at Dudley, Burwood, Lambton No. 2 Pit (late Durham), South Waratah, Newcastle Coal-mining Co.'s A. Pit, Seaham, West Wallsend, Killingworth, Brown's Colliery (Minmi), Duckenfield, Wallsend, and Greta Collieries, in the Newcastle District. I am not aware that fire-damp has ever been seen at any of the collieries in the Lithgow or Western District.

Sample Room—King Street, Newcastle.

Safety-lamps are used for the purposes of inspection under General Rule 4 at the collieries named above, as well as at South Clifton, Coal Cliff, Bellambi, South Bulli, Bulli Pass, and Mount Kembla, in the Southern or Illawarra District, and at Wallarah and East Greta Collieries, in the Newcastle District.

In addition to this they are used exclusively in the underground workings of the Metropolitan and Killingworth Collieries, and in all but the main intake airways of the Dudley Colliery, and in the south side workings of the Burwood Colliery.

The question as to whether any additional price shall be paid to miners when using safety-lamps is now engaging the consideration of some of the colliery owners and the Colliery Employees' Federation, in the Newcastle District; and in order to facilitate the introduction of safety-lamps for use when considered to be necessary by any manager, without the probability of a stoppage of work ensuing, it would be well if this matter was satisfactorily settled.

The General Rules of the Coal Mines' Regulation Act with reference to the use of safety-lamps in certain places, the construction and examination of same, are as follows:—

Rule 2. No lamp or light other than a locked safety-lamp shall be allowed or used—

(a) In any place in a mine in which there is likely to be any such quantity of inflammable gas as to render the use of naked lights dangerous; or

(b) In any working approaching near a place in which there is likely to be an accumulation of inflammable gas.

And when it is necessary to work the coal in any part of a ventilating district with safety-lamps, it shall not be allowable to work the coal with naked lights in another part of the same ventilating district situated between the place where such lamps are being used and the return airway.

Rule 9.—Wherever safety-lamps are used, they shall be so constructed that they may be safely carried against the air current ordinarily prevailing in that part of the mine in which the lamps are for the time being in use, even though such current should be inflammable.

Rule 10.—In any mine or part of a mine in which safety-lamps are required by this Act, or by the Special Rules made in pursuance of this Act to be used—

(I) A competent person appointed by the owner, agent, or manager, for the purpose, shall, either at the surface or at the appointed lamp-station, examine every safety-lamp immediately before it is taken into the workings for use, and ascertain it to be in safe working order and securely locked; and such lamps shall not be used until they have been so examined and found in safe working order, and securely locked.

(II) A safety-lamp shall not be unlocked except either at the appointed lamp-station or for the purpose of firing a shot, in conformity with the provisions hereinafter contained.

(III) A person, unless he has been appointed either for the purpose of examining safety-lamps, or for the purpose of firing shots, shall not have in his possession any contrivance for opening the lock of any safety-lamp.

(IV) A person shall not have in his possession any lucifer-match or apparatus of any kind for striking a light except within a completely closed chamber attached to the fuze of the shot.

Rule 11.—Where safety-lamps are required to be used, the position of the lamp-stations for lighting or re-lighting the lamps shall not be in the return air.

EXTRACT FROM ANNUAL MINING REPORT, 1899.

INSPECTORS' REPORTS, &c.

The late Mr. Senior Inspector Dixon's Report.

"To The Honorable John L. Fegan, Esq., M.P.,
Secretary for Mines and Agriculture, &c.—

Sir,— Merewether, 30th January, 1900.

In accordance with the provisions of section 21 of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1896, I have the honor to submit my report for the year ending 31st December, 1899.

During the term embraced by this report I made 163 inspections, investigated 41 accidents, and travelled about 5800 miles (exclusive of all underground travelling). I was also engaged eighteen days in Court, had four weeks' sick leave, and the remainder of the time was taken up in writing reports on various subjects, checking coal royalties, and dealing with other matters.

The following is a list of the collieries usually inspected by me, also number of men and boys employed above and below ground.

A. A. Company's No. 2 Colliery.—The work of pillar coal extraction is still being carried on in this mine, and about 90 men and boys are employed.

During the year the Hamilton Pit, near Glebe Hill, has been totally abandoned. Both shafts have been filled in, and the whole of the surface arrangements have been dismantled.

A. A. Company's New Winning.—About 548 men and boys are employed at this colliery. The surface improvements during the year have been very considerable, consisting in the erection of more machinery, travelling belts, &c., and in the addition of three more large steam-boilers.

Newcastle Company's A Pit.—At this colliery about 416 men and boys are employed. During the latter part of the year a great deal of work was done in the pulling down of old screen fixtures and the erection of new screens and weighbridges, with a view to weighing all coal at an early date.

Newcastle Company's B Pit.—About 413 men and boys are employed at this colliery, and during the year the whole of the necessary appliances for weighing all coal were completed, and the system of weighing both large and small coal adopted.

Burwood.—At this colliery 325 men and boys are employed. A new shaft has been completed during the year. The depth is about 600 feet, and it is intended to act as an upcast. A powerful ventilating fan is in course of erection at the surface of this shaft, and when completed will doubtless give good results. This colliery has now four separate and distinct openings to the day or surface.

Waratah.—About 272 men and boys are employed at this colliery. Many improvements both above and below ground have been made during the year. The endless rope system of underground haulage is working splendidly. The ventilating fan at the surface, which is now at work, is a decided benefit to the ventilation; and all coal is being weighed.

Lambton B Pit (late Durham).—This colliery was at work during a portion of the year, and 45 men and boys were employed. When not in full work, men were employed keeping the mine free from water, and attending to other matters.

New Lambton.—About 59 men and boys are employed at this colliery, when in full work. During the latter portion of the year trade was very slack, but during the idle time the workings were kept in good order.

Ebbw Vale.—At this colliery about 32 men and boys have been employed during the year. The Burwood seam of coal is worked at this mine.

Hillside.—The Burwood seam of coal is worked at this colliery, and 7 men and boys are employed.

Shortlands.—Burwood seam of coal is worked at this colliery also, and 11 men and boys are employed.

Quarry.—This mine is also now abandoned.

Morris's. Lambton.—Three persons employed at this mine.

Rose Hill, North Lambton.—This mine has been abandoned during the year, and is now worked in conjunction with the Electric mine.

Centenary, Curlewis.—About 19 men and boys are employed at this colliery.

Gunnedah.—About 46 men and boys are employed at this colliery, and many improvements have been made during the year, with a view to a larger output of coal."

Mr. Inspector Bates' Report.

"To the Honorable J. L. Fegan, M P.,
Secretary for Mines and Agriculture, Sydney,—

Sir, Newcastle, 31st January, 1900.

Pursuant to section 21 of the Coal Mines Regulation Act, 1896, I have the honor to submit my annual report on the coal-mines inspected by me during the year ending 31st December, 1899.

During the year under notice I have inspected, at frequent intervals, nineteen collieries in the Northern district, and one inspection of the following collieries, viz.:—Wallsend No. 2, Wickham and Bullock Island, Maryland, Co-operative Ingunee, Stockton, Thornley, Bloomfield, Marshall's, Brown's, Duckenfield, Seaham, West Wallsend, Dudley, Hetton, Killingworth, South Hetton, Waratah, A. A. Co.'s No. 2, A. A. Co.'s New Winning, Newcastle A Pit, and Sydney Harbour Colliery.

I have also visited Bulli, Corrimal, Bellambi, South Clifton, and Coal Cliff Collieries, in connection with the colliery plans.

COLLIERIES.

Wallsend Colliery, Main Tunnel Workings.—There are 610 men and boys employed at this portion of the Wallsend Colliery. The ventilation is produced by means of a Guibal fan and a furnace, the intakes being the main hauling tunnel, travelling roads, Centennial and traction shafts.

Lambton Colliery, Lambton.—There are 205 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by means of a furnace, the intakes being the tunnel and various traction shafts.

Elemore Vale Colliery, Wallsend.—There are 48 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the intakes being the main shaft and an air-shaft.

Pacific Colliery, Teralba.—There are 161 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the intakes being the hauling tunnel, travelling road, and a shaft.

Northern Extended Colliery, Teralba.—There are 80 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the intakes being the tunnel and a shaft.

South Wallsend Colliery, Cardiff.—Coal has only been drawn during the months of February, March and April of the year under notice. Since then nothing except pumping water has been done, in order to keep the mine in readiness for resumption of work. When at work the mine employed about 35 men and boys.

East Greta Colliery, West Maitland.—There are 235 men and boys employed in connection with this mine. Coal is drawn from two tunnels in the lower seam, and three shifts are worked. The air current of No. 1 tunnel is circulated by natural ventilation, but there is a furnace available when necessary. A furnace is in use for ventilating the No. 2 tunnel. During the year a tunnel was driven for the purpose of working the upper seam of coal, but all operations are at present suspended.

South Greta Colliery, Farley.—There are 52 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the intakes being two of the tunnels.

Greta Colliery, Greta.—There are 177 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a Guibal fan, the intake being the main shaft.

New Park Colliery, Singleton.—There are 75 men and boys employed at the two tunnels in connection with this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the intakes being the two tunnels.

Dulwich Colliery, Singleton.—There are 9 men and boys employed at this mine, which is ventilated by means of a furnace, the intake being the tunnel.

COLLIERIES WORKING UNDER PERMITS.

Cardiff Colliery, Cardiff.—No coal has been drawn at this mine since January, and all work is at present suspended. When at work, about 22 men and boys were employed.

Teralba Colliery, Cockle Creek.—There are 7 men employed in unwatering the shaft, where work has been suspended for some years.

Northumberland Colliery, Fassifern.—There are 16 men and boys employed at this mine. The ventilation is produced by a furnace, the tunnel being the intake.

Rosedale Colliery, Singleton.—Eight men are employed at this mine. The ventilation is natural, assisted by the heat from a steam-pump, the tunnel being the intake.

Oakvale Colliery, Singleton.—There are 10 men and boys employed at this mine. A small fire suffices to keep the air current in circulation, the intake being from the tunnel.

Granbalang Colliery, Singleton.—Eight men and boys are employed at this mine. The ventilation is natural, the intake being the winding shaft.

New Anvil Creek Colliery, Greta.—One man is employed at this mine, attending to the steam-pump and keeping the mine free from accumulation of water.

Stanford Greta Colliery, West Maitland.—Prospecting is being carried on at two tunnels on the Stanford and Heddon Greta coal properties. There are 10 men and boys employed."

AVERAGE SELLING PRICE OF COAL.

From the opening of the Newcastle coal seams, when the Government made coal an article of revenue, up to the present time, the selling price has fluctuated in accordance with the market value of the article. When the Government opened the coal mine at Newcastle, the selling price was fixed at 10s per ton, and remained at that price till 1830, the year after the A. A. Company took over the control of the coal fields. In that year the price was reduced to 9s per ton; from thence the selling price has gone up and down with the market, as will be seen by the following table, showing the average price per ton from 1829 up to 1896, as recorded by the Coal Fields Department:—

GOLD MINING.

(EXTRACTS FROM ANNUAL MINING REPORT, 1899.)

HUNTER AND MACLEAY MINING DISTRICT.

Dungog Division.

In this Division some activity has been displayed during 1899, especially by James Chambers, at the Mountaineer Reef, Upper Wangat, who is sanguine as to cutting the true reef shortly. Others working in the locality are, Simmons and party, who are sinking a shaft in which the stone shows fairly good gold; Cobcroft and party, who are driving a tunnel to cut the Mountaineer Reef; and Hockham and party, who are also driving a tunnel, the stone in the face of which, when dollied, shows good prospects.

The principal mine in the neighbourhood, the Wonga Wonga, has the privilege of suspension of labour conditions at present—during repairs to machinery. Several crushings have taken place, which are said to be below anticipations; but, though invited, the proprietors have not furnished details of winnings.

Mr. Samuel Fielder has three men working (aided by Prospecting Vote) at the old Cherry-tree Reef, 4 miles from Dungog. The reef fluctuates considerably—from 3 inches to nil—but something good is anticipated in the neighbourhood of the old 170-foot shaft.

George Towns, with his son, is working at the Monkerai, on what would appear to be a good property, as the reef increases and gold improves with the progress of sinking. These men have won, during the latter portion of the year, by means of a hand dolly only, gold to the value of £140 3s. 6d.

Copeland Division.

This Division has not for many years experienced so dull a period—if we except a spurt for alluvial on private land at Rawdon Vale, parish Knowla. Here, though as many as 100 men were employed during one period of the rush, only a few made really good wages, the sinking being about 40 feet. The place is now abandoned.

It is difficult to ascertain the gold yield for the year; but from such particulars as can be gleaned, it appears that upwards of 450oz. from alluvial, and 160 oz. from quartz, have been won in and around Copeland.

The Hidden Treasure Mine, after many vicissitudes, passed at auction to a Sydney buyer, who is stated to be bringing good and powerful machinery all the way from Molong.

The Prince Charlie is reported sold to a Victorian syndicate, who propose to erect considerable machinery and cyanide plant. Information is being sought as to the deleterious effect refuse, after cyanide treatment, may have upon creeks used by the public and by cattle; as, in respect to such danger, it may be found necessary to protect the Back Creek which runs through the town.

There is prospect of large operations on the Centennial line of reef in the current year. The effect of renewed enterprise in this direction, with the additional facilities for treating ore, is expected to prove a great stimulus to many mines at present idle.

Seven applications were received during the year for gold-mining leases, which covered in all an area of 61 acres.

Bulladelah Division.

Mining, generally, in this portion of the District, has been slack during the past twelve months, and no new finds have been reported. The Curreki and Myall Queen properties have both been worked with but fair results only. A little prospecting has also been done by other parties, but nothing of a payable nature found.

At Paddy's Creek, where Henry Underwood reported having struck the reef "rich," the result of the year's operations has been disappointing.

Joseph Windross, whose concessions for the purpose of prospecting the beach between Smith's Lake and Seal Rocks have been extended for further six months, has been very ill for some time past, hence there are no results to report. He is, however, having a further machine constructed, by means of which he hopes to do something during the coming year. His chief obstacle to success, he states, is the presence, in an excessive quantity, of osmiridium—a difficulty which he alleges his past experience wil now enable him to combat.

The quarrying of alunite at Bulladelah, and of limestone flux at the Myall Lakes, is still being proceeded with satisfactorily. About 1,000 tons of each of these minerals have been sent away during the past year.

Kempsey Division.

Generally speaking, similar conditions have obtained in this Division during the past twelve months as were reported for the previous year. There are no known auriferous alluvial fields in this district and, as far as can be ascertained, no quartz-mining of any description was done. Indeed, with the exception of the tin find at Carrai, very little of interest in mining has occurred.

At Deep Creek, a gold-mining lease has been applied for, but the application has not yet been approved.

Taree Division.

Much prospecting for "alluvial" gold has been done in this Division during the past year; but it is to be regretted that the various parties have met with very little success.

During the year the entire crushing plant connected with Andrews Brothers leases at "Cell's Field" has been idle, although the battery (now consisting of ten-head of stampers) is in good working order.

Messrs. Andrews Brothers, early in the year, surrendered most of their leases on this field, and afterwards "took-up" the best of the ground in a modified and more easily-workable area. It is hoped, therefore, to see their battery once again at work, and that there will be more satisfactory results to report for the coming twelve months.

During the year, six gold-mining leases, comprising a total area of 29 acres, have been taken up on this (the "Cells") field.

COPPER MINING.

(EXTRACT FROM MINING REPORT, 1899.)

HUNTER AND MACLEAY MINING DISTRICT.

Kempsey Division.

At the Willi Willi Copper and Silver Mine no work other than that of prospecting has been done during the past year. Messrs. Baker Bros., who are now the owners of the mine, report that they have about 600 tons of ore at grass ready for smelting. The ore is composed of carbonates of copper, with silver chlorides present. It is thought this property may ultimately prove a valuable one.

IRONSTONE FLUX.

(EXTRACT FROM MINING REPORT, 1899.)

The raising of ironstone flux is an industry only established in this Colony since the erection of the large metallurgical works at Dapto and Cockle Creek, where it is utilised in connection with the smelting operations conducted at those places. Between 30 and 40 men were employed winning this material during the past year, and 10,521 tons of ironstone, valued at £8,417 8s., were raised and sent away from Carcoar and Marulan. Nearly the whole of this flux contained traces of gold.

The production of iron oxide during the past twelve months amounted to 396·35 tons, valued at £846. This product is employed for gas-purifying purposes, and is absorbed by various gas-works within the Australasian Colonies.

LABOUR.

CONCILIATION AND ARBITRATION ACT.

On the 1st of May, 1899, the Conciliation and Arbitration Act of 1899 came into force. This Act, where a difference exists, or is apprehended, between an employer or any class of employers, and his or their employees, or between different classes of employees, enables the Minister, if he think fit, to exercise all or any of the following powers:—

(a) Direct inquiry into the causes and circumstances of the difference.

(b) Take such steps as to him may seem expedient for the purpose of enabling the parties to the difference to meet together, by themselves or their representatives, under the presidency of a Chairman mutually agreed upon, or, in the event of their failing to agree, nominated by the Minister, with a view to the amicable settlement of the difference.

(c) Failing such amicable settlement direct a public inquiry into the causes and circumstances of the difference on the application of either party. All such public inquiries shall be conducted by a Judge of the Supreme or District Courts, or the President of the Land Court.

(d) On the application of either the employers, the employees, or both, and after taking into consideration the circumstances of the case, appoint a person or persons to act as Conciliator or as a Board of Conciliation.

(e) On the application of both parties to the difference appoint an Arbitrator.

EARLY CLOSING ACT.

On 22nd December, 1899, the Early Closing Act was assented to, and it came into force on 1st January, 1900. As the Act stands it is considered to be about the most comprehensive measure of its kind in operation in any part of the world.

FACTORIES AND SHOPS ACT.

This Act was extended to Newcastle East and West, Wickham, Waratah, Kahibah, Wallsend, West and East Maitland, by proclamation on 6th February, 1899. An office was established in the London Bank Chambers, Scott-street, Newcastle, and Mr. W. M. H. Burkitt appointed an Inspector under the Act. The District covers an area of some 500 square miles, and is in extent about equal to the Metropolitan District. Twenty-eight days after the date of proclamation 355 certificates were issued to factories, 17 of which were cancelled on account of removals, leaving 338 registered in January, 1900. Of these—

During the first year of the extension of the Act 160 medical certificates of fitness were issued to young persons in the Newcastle District, as follows:—

Engineering, Metal Works, &c.	36
Aerated Water Factories	13
Saw Mills, Joinery, &c.	10

All Classes	13

Permits to children between 13 and 14 years of age were granted in eight cases.

As the number of women employed in factories in the district did not necessitate the appointment of an additional female inspector, arrangements were made with Miss Duncan to pay periodical visits of inspection.

The Newcastle District Factories afforded employment in 1899 to 3,260 persons, of which 2,532 were males and 728 females—the bulk (1,020) being employed in connection with food and drink, or preparation thereof. In these factories 96 steam and 25 gas-engines were in use.

The Loading Facilities.

The coal-loading appliances and facilities at Newcastle for expediting the despatch of vessels are unequalled south of the Equator, and barely in the large maritime centres of the old world. On the Dyke wharf at Carrington there are twelve powerful hydraulic and three steam cranes, which are worked by the Government. In addition to these there are private shoots at A.A. Co.'s wharf, at Stockton and Hexham. Railway lines run alongside of the wharves, connecting the cranes with the various collieries. The bodies of the coal waggons are shackled on to the cranes and are lifted by hydraulic power, and quickly transferred from the line to ship's hatchway alongside. The bottoms of the waggons are on hinges, held fastened by a bolt. A tap from the stevedore's hammer readily dislodges the bolt when the waggon is in position over the hatch. The bottom then falls on its hinges, allowing the contents—7 or 8 tons—to pour into the ship's hold. Waggon after waggon following in quick succession, soon fills the vessel up: and, with the assistance of gangs of experienced coal trimmers, vessels are in an incredibly short space of time made ready for sea. The work of loading vessels can be carried on as well by night as by day owing to the wharves being illuminated by powerful electric light arc lamps, which are supplied by the Government from the plant erected in the hydraulic engine-house.

The Wool Shipping.

The loading of wool at Newcastle is chiefly confined to the eastern wharves, where the wool-pressing and dumping sheds are situated. The railway lines run alongside, and the bales of wool are simply tipped from the waggon to the shed, and then made ready for shipment. As the sheds are close to the berthing places, the wool is expeditiously placed alongside and transferred to the ship's hold. Consignments arriving from the interior are dumped and made ready for shipment.

Newcastle Port Charges.

HARBOR AND LIGHT RATES.—A payment of 4d per register ton exempts vessels from any further charge of Harbor and Light Rates being made in any port in New South Wales, for a period of six calendar months from date of payment.

PILOTAGE.—From sea, 4d per register ton; to sea, ditto.

REMOVALS BY PILOTS IN THE HARBOR.—Vessels not exceeding 300 tons register, per removal, 20s; from 301 to 400 tons, 25s; from 401 to 500 tons, 30s; from 501 to 600 tons, 35s; from 601 to 800 tons, 40s; from 801 to 1000 tons, 50s; over 1000 tons, 60s.

TOWAGE.—From sea, 8d per register ton: to sea, free. From Sydney, 1s per register ton. Contract prices excepted.

REMOVALS BY STEAMERS IN THE HARBOR.—Under 200 tons register, per removal, 20s; from 201 to 300 tons, 30s; from 301 to 500 tons, 40s; from 501 to 700 tons, 50s; over 700 tons, 60s.

WHARFAGE RATES.—1½d per net register ton per day is charged on sailing vessels while loading, and for steamers, ½d per gross register ton per day.

Hints to Shipmasters when Nearing the Port.

As these notes are not meant for exempt masters, matters in connection with the navigation of the channels inside of Nobbys will be unnecessary, as that will be attended to by skilful pilots.

Too much caution cannot be taken by shipmasters when nearing the port in southerly or south-easterly gales, owing to a dangerous lee-shore to the northward of Nobby's, running about 23 miles towards Port Stephens, on which heavy seas roll, to a distance of about two miles from the beach, which is sandy, and in most places the seas break. It is imperative when running before strong S. and S.E. gales towards Nobbys, especially before night comes on, to heave ship to well to the southward of the port, or stand off. During the day time vessels can of course, even in such weather, approach much closer, when the services of a tugboat may be had. When there is an indication of gales from S. or S.E. it is always advisable during the night to heave to about Redhead: then towards daybreak, even if the wind should fall light, the vessel would not be too far off to secure the services of a tug.

Masters of vessels unacquainted with the port and bight should not, under any circumstances, endeavor to enter the port without having a pilot on board.

At night time when a pilot is required a blue flash-light should be shown; this will be answered by the signalman on the Signal Hill look-out station.

The services of a tugboat can be secured by flying the letter N on a conspicuous part of the vessel.

A pilot on boarding a vessel will supply the master with the harbor laws and regulations, which are clear and emphatic.

The entrance to the Newcastle harbor is embayed almost between Norah Head and Morna Point. They are S. by W¼W. 24 miles, and N.E. by E. 13 miles from the entrance respectively. There is from 18 to 22 fathoms of water for several miles off the shore.

On the southern breakwater a red harbor-light is exhibited, 34 feet above low water, and about 260 feet from the outer end of the breakwater.

Nobbys lighthouse is situated on an imposing natural high projection (Nobbys Heads), which is connected with the city by the southern breakwater. The breakwater also extends about 1.800 feet N.E. from the lighthouse. Nobbys Head lies in latitude 32deg. 55min. 15sec. S. and longitude 151deg. 49min. 15sec. E. The light, which is a fixed white one, is at an elevation of 115 feet above high water level.

The prevalence of southerly gales in the Newcastle bight, suddenly arising, with a threatening lee-shore, makes it necessary that shipmasters should avoid bringing their vessels into the position that the lighthouse would be to the southward of west.

There is a reef of rocks extending a distance of about half-a-mile off the shore to the southward and eastward of Nobbys Head. The seas break dangerously on these rocks.

In foggy weather a bell is kept constantly ringing on the southern breakwater, which can be heard three miles to seaward.

At night time when the pilot is outside in response to the ship's signal, he will, after reaching a safe position, burn a blue light, when the vessel can steer for it.

In case a vessel should be running down for the port at night time when a south-east gale is raging, it would be advisable to stand off the land, well to the southward, owing to the dangerous lee-shere, before getting too far down, as in such weather, when too close up, it would be exceedingly difficult to clear Port Stephens.

Sample Room - King Street, Newcastle.

In all cases it is advisable that both anchors should be in readiness, and chains on deck, for lowering before entering the port, as from the entrance to the harbor to the anchorage is but a short distance.

Special attention should be paid to the signals exhibited on Signal Hill. When the stand-off signals are hoisted, masters of vessels are particularly advised to respond by standing off. It is only in cases of special danger on the bar that these signals are exhibited.

Times of high water, full and change, are 8h. 45min.: range of tide, 2½ feet mean tide, and 5½ feet spring tide.

Vessels of any size disabled and not able to keep off the land, can find shelter in Port Stephens, situated in latitude 32deg. 42min. 30sec. S., 152deg. 11min. 45sec. E. A red and white revolving light is on Port Stephens Heads. In attempting to enter that port great care should be taken.

In the event of its being absolutely necessary, from the disabled state of the vessel, or other cause, that the master or person in charge should attempt to enter the Newcastle harbor at all risks, he is exhorted to endeavor to do so on the flood tide, as the velocity of the ebb (influenced by freshes and other causes) is at times so great as effectually to stop a vessel's progress up the channels; added to which is the danger of being thrown on shore by the eddies and breakers, which in heavy gales, blowing along or on shore, extend right across the channel. In consequence of the velocity of the flood tide during springs, masters of large steamers are cautioned against taking the port at night time.

Winds and Weather—New South Wales Coast.

As a rule the prevailing winds on this coast blow from the N.E. from October to March, and from the westward, veering from N.W. to S.W., from April to October, subject to variation in the direction of wind of short duration. These changes are however indicated by the rise and fall of the mercury, which invariably give timely warning.

The N.E. breeze generally sets in during the forenoon, with hot weather and hazy atmosphere, freshening during the afternoon to a strong breeze until sunset, after which it gradually dies out. Occasionally the breeze will hold out until midnight and then drop suddenly calm. These winds last for four or five days, and even for a longer period, with the barometer registering about 30.100.

When the mercury begins to fall, it is the precursor of a change, and as the north-easter is dying out a sharp lookout should be kept for a southerly buster. These changes as a rule give no warning, as the sky is generally clear, but they come away very suddenly, blowing violently for two or three hours, then settling down to a steady breeze, hauling to the S.E. and eastward and eventually N.E., with a rising barometer. During the prevalence of these winds it is very tedious making a passage northwards, as those navigating this coast, bound to the northward, have not only to contend with head winds, but a strong southerly current, which runs in that direction about nine months in the year, and at a rate of about 1½ knots per hour, and sometimes with greater velocity. A heavy dew at night time is generally the forerunner of a north-easter.

During the winter months the winds prevail from the westward, with a low barometer and clear atmosphere, commencing to freshen during the forenoon, and by the time the sun has crossed the meridian will have increased to a strong gale with hard squalls, gradually taking off at sunset, and during the night are invariably very slight with clear weather. These winds occasionally continue the night, blowing hard from west to W.S.W. The barometer rising is a sure indication that the wind will veer to S.W. and south, working into the S.S.E. with heavy gales and dirty weather, accompanied with heavy rain squalls, lasting from three to five days, after which it will die out and eventually settle into fine weather at N.E. and north, and, with the fall of the mercury, veer round to the westward.

The months of June, July and August are watched with much anxiety by masters of vessels on this coast in consequence of the easterly gales, which rage with terrific violence, and usually leave behind them a tale of woe. These gales commence invariably with unsettled and overcast, gloomy, dark weather, the wind flying all round the compass, eventually freshening up to a gale from north to N.E., with rain and heavy squalls, the barometer registering about 30.320. These winds, veering to east and S.E. and then backing between E.N.E. and S.E. with hard gales and terrific squalls, last about four days, the mercury fluctuating but slightly. As the barometer falls the wind will back into N.E. and round into the westward with fine weather. During these gales the sea rolls very heavily home on this coast.

In the early part of the summer this coast is visited occasionally with hot N.W. winds of about two days' duration and with a low barometer; before the change to the S.W. and south, which occurs very suddenly, large heavy black banks of clouds, charged with electricity, will be observed rising to the S.W. The wind will suddenly veer from N.W. to S.W. and south, blowing a hard gale, with thunder, lightning, and rain lasting from six to twelve hours, with the barometer rising steadily, eventually working round to the eastward with fine weather.

When the rotary direction of the wind is from north round by east to south and by west again to north, extremely bad weather may be expected from a southerly direction.

During the winter months a low barometer indicates westerly winds, and during the summer months it is the precursor of a hot N.W. wind. During the summer months, also, the barometer generally falls whilst the N.E. wind is blowing, and indicates the approach of a southerly gale.

Information for Shipmasters.

The shipping master (Mr. C. H. Hannell, J.P.) supplied the following information for ship masters and others interested in the shipping trade:—

On all engagements with the exception of vessels trading within the State of New South Wales, a duty stamp of the value of 1s must be attached to ship's articles.

Forms are printed for which no charge is made—Accounts, Wages, Advance Notes, Crew List, &c.

Official Log Books	each	2	0	Seamen's Articles	per set	5	0
Copies of Agreement	,,	1	0	Engagements Single Seamen	each	2	0
Foreign-going Articles	full set	5	0	Discharges	,,	2	0
Colonial ,,	,,	2	6

An inward crew list containing the names of passengers (if any) must be lodged with the shipping master within 24 hours of arrival, under a penalty not exceeding £5, coastwise excepted.

Every intercolonial or foreign trade ship shall, before leaving New South Wales, send to the shipping master a full and accurate statement of every change which takes place in his crew before finally leaving New South Wales, under a penalty of £5.

Valid certificates of competency of masters, mates and engineers must be forwarded to the shipping master before that officer will give papers for vessel to clear at the Custom House.

Vessels registered in New South Wales (over 80 tons register) may engage and discharge their seamen on board, subject to certain conditions.

Vessels registered outside of New South Wales must, under penalty, ship and discharge their men at the shipping master's office.

No unlicensed person or persons allowed to engage or provide seamen under a penalty of £20 or imprisonment.

Towage.

Newcastle is well off for tugboats, there being quite a considerable fleet of them in commission. Messrs. J. and A. Brown, John Dalton, P. Callen and Sons, H. Callen, and Fenwick and Co. have each a small fleet in constant work.

Acapulco—Advice to Shipmasters.

Masters of vessels bound hence to Acapulco are advised to procure coal baskets at Newcastle prior to departure to avoid delay in discharging at that port, as the facilities for working cargo there are of a primitive nature. Captain Blackstock, of the barque Fiery Cross, writing under date Acapulco, August 8, 1900, says:—"We arrived here 'all well' in 61 days from Newcastle. I cannot say I find Acapulco so bad as people made it out at Newcastle. It is warm just now, and rains every day, this being the sickly season; but yellow fever has not visited the port for several years. I would advise all shipmasters coming here to bring large baskets with them, as steam can be hired here. Our baskets were small for handwork, but we used them two at a time collier fashion, or this cargo would not have been out now. Vegetables, such as potatoes, &c., cannot be procured here, and I would also advise masters of vessels to bring rice and flour from Newcastle."

Coutts' Sailors' Home.

This institution, which is situated in Bond Street with an entrance in Scott Street, is a credit to the port for cleanliness and the general management. The committee consists of Messrs. C. H. Hannell, J.P. (shipping master), R. Hall, and Joseph Wood, J.P., with Mr. Frank Gardner as secretary, who have had extensive alterations and improvements effected, making the institution one of the finest in the Australian States. It is under the management of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Booth, who look after the interests and comfort respectively of the seamen boarders.

Discharge of Ballast.

On this subject for a considerable period controversy prevailed in local shipping circles, and owing to the stringent regulations of the Board of Health the majority of vessels from foreign ports had to send their ballast in lighters to sea. After repeated efforts on the part of the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce the Board of Health amended their regulations regarding the disposal of ballast, which is a matter of great importance to shipowners. Arrangements were made by the Harbor authorities which now enable the discharge of ballast within the harbor under low water mark, thus obviating the expense and delay of sending the ballast to sea, as under the old regulations. The committee received a letter from the Sailing Shipowners' Committee of London, thanking the Newcastle Chamber for the success attendant upon their efforts.

Cattle Shipping.

The Shipment of Cattle having increased of late years the Government, at the request of the Newcastle Chamber of Commerce, erected cattle pens at the northern end of the Dyke wharf, where consignments from the interior by rail are unloaded from the trucks with ease. A large portable enclosed gangway connects the stockyards with the vessels alongside of the wharf, and the cattle are driven on board with comparative ease, and devoid of that brutality which heretofore invariably attended the shipment of stock. Horses in heavy consignments for India, cattle and sheep for New Caledonia form the chief transactions in this branch of trade. With the appliances at hand vessels for this class of freight now experience but little delay in loading.

The Newcastle Bar.

The depth of water on the Bar at low water spring tides is 22ft. 6in. With the object of further deepening the water at that point the Government some few years ago imported the powerful rock excavator Poseidon, which vessel has done good service in the removal of rocks in the harbour, but has not yet caused any material difference to the depth of the Bar. A number of dredges, of the bucket, grab, and sand-pump descriptions are kept constantly at work in the harbor. In some instances vessels of very heavy draft have had to leave considerably above the Plimsoll mark owing to the want of deeper water on the Bar, but with the extensive harbor improvements, and breakwater extensions it is anticipated that ere long there will be a sufficiency of water to enable vessels of the heaviest draft to load up to and leave comfortably with their full carrying capacity.

Frozen Meat Loading.

With the strong demand in England and South Africa for frozen meats the Aberdeen Freezing and Chilling Company some few years ago established their works at Aberdeen (N.S.W.), and have gradually increased the output till the trade has assumed considerable proportions. Consignments from these works find their way to the London, Liverpool, Manchester, and South African markets, at each of which satisfactory prices have been realised. Indeed, in some instances, it has been stated that the Aberdeen meat has been actually sold by purveyors in London as English meat, and consequently realised the higher rates. The shipments from the Aberdeen Chilling Factory are made at Newcastle. Consignments are brought down in huge refrigerator cars, which run alongside of the wharf, and are with little handling transferred from the cars to the cool air chambers of the steamers alongside. Large canvas sheets are brought into requisition for the purpose of transfer, and the work is carried out with cleanliness and despatch. During the season regular lines of steamers call for this class of freight at convenient intervals, so that there can be little difficulty in frozen meat carriers receiving quick despatch.

Newcastle Lifeboat.

The new Lifeboat, Victoria II., is now under the control of the Navigation Department, of which Captain Newton is Deputy Superintendent. The boat, which is manned from the Harbor Department's boatmen, is housed at the rear of the pilot boat-shed. A. McKinnon is the coxswain, and looks after the boat, which is always kept in readiness, and can be launched in a few seconds. In boisterous weather the crew stand by in readiness (night and day) to proceed if necessary to vessels in distress.

Rocket Apparatus.

The Newcastle Rocket Brigade has a station at Stockton, which is fitted up with rocket life-saving apparatus. The members are enrolled from the Harbors and Rivers Department, who spare no trouble or pains in studying the manipulation of the apparatus. In boisterous weather the men are continuously on duty, and have done good service when called upon. On the city side a set is also kept in readiness in case of vessels being in trouble to the southward of Nobbys.

CHRIST CHURCH CATHEDRAL.

There is at last a prospect of the completion of at least a portion of Christ Church Cathedral, which has for so many years remained in its unfinished state—special efforts are being made towards this end. The Building Committee in their annual report, issued in May, 1900, stated that they had "secured the services of Mr. F. B. Menkens, Architect, to make a thorough examination of the present state of the Cathedral Building, and obtained from him a report as to the possibility of carrying out the work in sectional parts with a view to opening some part for Divine Service. The committee decided that it was advisable to complete the Nave at a cost of about £7,000. A sum of £1,000 has been promised by the Society for Promoting Christian Knowledge, conditionally on the sum of £19,000 being expended on the work, and the site being free of any legal encumbrances, the time within which this money was to be claimed having expired his Lordship the Bishop communicated with the Society, and we are pleased to report that an extension of the time for a further period of five years from date of the letter has been granted The committee, therefore, hopes that a vigorous effort will be made at once and a hearty response will be received from the whole Diocese.'

His Lordship Bishop Stanton, in his Address to the Synod, made the following reference to the Cathedral Completion Scheme:—"I hope that the arrival of Bishop Stretch, and his concentration of energy upon the Cathedral, will greatly advance the Building Completion Scheme. The committee have now brought their scheme within what ought to be measurable distance. The architecture of English Cathedrals shows that they were built in parts because the builders were overtaken from time to time by a new style of architecture, and unconservatively they abandoned the old and adopted the new style. Winchester, Hereford, and others are histories of architecture in stone. We must admit that it is hard, probably inexpedient if not impossible, for one generation of Church people to build a Cathedral throughout. Yet 'something accomplished, something done' ought to earn their 'night's repose.' The committee have sought advice, and find that they can complete the whole of the nave, and leave the choir to be finished afterwards. Adelaide Cathedral is half built. It is idle to wish now that years ago some plan had been accepted which would have better lent itself to progressive construction. The poet Young consoles us by saying—

> The man that does the best his circumstance allows

"The cost of this work ought not to be beyond reach. The cost is estimated at £7,000. Towards this sum the Christian Knowledge Society's conditional grant of £1,000 will be available. The three years' scheme already promises £2,684. If the scheme is taken up in every parish, and by every parishioner, the work would be easily and speedily accomplished. In our day we ought to make part of the building available for worship. His Excellency the Governor, at the Diocesan Festival, remarked that our site for a Cathedral is unrivalled. He did not think a better site possible. Viewed from the harbour, or anywhere else, the site should make each member of the Church ask the question, 'What am I going to do towards finishing the Cathedral?' He said the sum required for the completion is a modest one when compared with the vast sums raised at home for Church work in cities not much larger than Newcastle. The truth is that its past history and present condition have made Newcastle Cathedral a by-word and a proverb in Church circles. We can redeem it from reproach by finishing enough for public worship. We boast of having the second city in the colony, and yet Goulburn has got before us in Cathedral building. We do not want to illustrate the saying, 'The first shall be last.' The lay members of Synod can help effectively in their own localities. I believe the money is there, but waits to be collected. The machinery for collection is ready, only collectors in their respective parishes are required."

Deaf and Dumb Institution, Waratah.

The Family Home Annual for 1900, of the Diocese of Maitland, published by authority of the Roman Catholic Church, contains the following relating to the Deaf and Dumb Institution, Waratah:—

"The institution established at Waratah for the education of deaf mutes is the only institution of its kind conducted under the auspices of the Catholic Church in Australasia.

"Those who give the subject even a little consideration will readily see how pressing is the need of a religious training for children who are cut off from the ordinary channels of knowledge and culture, and those who feel the necessity of education conducted on Catholic principles for children who can hear and speak, must acknowledge the far greater need of it in the case of the deaf and dumb. To the minds of these children knowledge can make entrance only by the teacher's skill, and thus it is clear that how great that skill otherwise may be, a teacher who does not possess the Catholic faith cannot impart the knowledge of that inestimable gift to his pupil. Apart from this reasoning, experience has taught by many examples that the children of Catholics who have through some misfortune been trained to the Secular Deaf and Dumb Institutions, have not only not acquired the knowledge of their faith and the practice of its teaching, but have learned to despise their parents' belief, and to repudiate the symbols and practices of their religion.

"It was when an instance of this nature occurred some 25 years ago, and became known to the then Bishop of the Diocese of Bathurst, the Right Rev. Dr. Matthew Quinn, of venerated memory, that the first efforts were made at that prelate's earnest entreaty to establish a school for the deaf and dumb in Newcastle. The Dominican Nuns were chosen for this work by reason of the special training which some of their members had undergone in the famous institution for deaf mutes, conducted by their order at Cabra, near Dublin. At their Convent in Newcastle the institution was commenced, and there it continued its work of zeal from 1875 to 1889.

"The increase in the number of pupils during these 14 years, and the necessity for increased accommodation, demanded the foundation of a separate establishment, which was erected at Waratah and solemnly opened under the auspices of the Australasian Hierarchy.

"The deaf mutes were transferred from Newcastle to the new institution in January, 1889, and since that time the work of their education has been carried on there, and their numbers have been steadily increasing. There are at present in the institution some 30 children from the different dioceses in Australasia, viz., Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane, Hobart, Auckland (N.Z.), Bathurst, Goulburn, Wilcannia, Grafton, Armidale, Perth (W.A.), and Noumea (New Caledonia). Seventy-six pupils have had the benefit of education since the foundation of the Institution, and 45 have received the inestimable advantage of the Sacraments.

"It is considered certain that there are very many more deaf mutes in the Australian colonies who have not yet received the educational advantages that are available at Waratah, and it is the sincere wish of the promoters of the Deaf and Dumb Institution that not one of those afflicted ones should be debarred by any circumstances from these advantages."

EXTRACTS FROM ANNUAL REPORTS.

"The marked progress, increased usefulness, and continued popularity, of this Mission to Seamen, has been fully demonstrated in the success which has attended the efforts of the past year." . . His Worship the Mayor of Newcastle, who presided at the Annual Meeting held in May, 1897, said, 'That he had been associated with the late Dr. Harris in the founding of the Newcastle Seamen's Mission, some 30 years ago, and he could bear testimony to the good work which, under the Divine blessing, had been accomplished during that period."

The Chaplain's report stated, "That during 1896 over five thousand seamen had been entertained at the weekly tea meetings, but that during 1897 over twenty-two thousand seamen and apprentices had attended the socials, concerts, services, reading rooms, and other meetings held in connection with the mission." During 1898, 1899, and 1900 the numbers of seafaring visitors had increased, and good work was achieved by the mission.

Newcastle and Northumberland Benevolent Society.

The Newcastle and Northumberland Benevolent Society, which was established in 1884, is the largest Institution of its kind in the State out of Sydney. Located in the chief city of the north—a shipping port and centre of a great coal mining district, which has been subjected to many trade disturbances—the calls upon its aid are numerous, both in respect of permanent residents and the migratory population which is incidental to a great seaport.

Its primary object is to afford outdoor relief in the shape of food, clothing, etc., etc., to the destitute; but it has an Asylum for the Aged and Infirm, to which is also attached a Lying-in Hospital.

The building is a well constructed and suitable structure for the purpose, and stands in an elevated position at Waratah. The site, which is about four acres in extent, was a grant from the Government, and, with manual labour, is partly utilised for growing vegetables for the Institution.

The average number of inmates is 75—male and female—the majority of whom are aged and infirm.

The Asylum is at present presided over by Miss F. C. Hopkins as Matron, assisted by an efficient staff.

Dr. A. W. Nash is the Hon. Medical Officer, and visits the Asylum regularly.

The management of the Institution is conducted by honorary officials, consisting of the President, Vice-President, Hon. Treasurer, and a committee of ladies.

The operations of the Society's outdoor relief department extend over on area of twenty miles, and some 250 families, representing over 700 persons, are benefited thereby.

The city offices of the Society are at Parry-street, where the business is conducted by Mr. R. P. Wells, the Secretary, under the direction of Mr. W. Arnott, senr., the President, and Mr. Geo. P. Lock, the Hon. Treasurer and Deputy President,

Other Denominations.

Owing to the delay in obtaining the necessary information from the clergymen of the various denominations other than those treated with, it became imperative to omit them from this issue. The Proprietors, however, regretting the necessity for doing so, undertake to have each denomination dealt with exhaustively in future issues, as well as treating with various other religious and charitable institutions.

PLEASURE RESORTS.

Places to Spend a Holiday.

The residents of Newcastle and environs are specially endowed with pleasure and health-giving resorts, which embrace marine, lake, river, mountain, vale, and fresh scenery, all within comfortable distances of their homes, and easily reached by road, water, or rail. Amongst the most popular places for holiday-making may be mentioned the following:—

LAKE MACQUARIE.

This magnificent sheet of water, which is situated about 14 miles to the south-west of Newcastle, is the chief and most popular pleasure resort for the Newcastle and Northern District, and has of late years attracted many visitors from Sydney and the southern States. The foreshores of the Lake cover a distance of about 500 miles, while that of the creeks and feeders is estimated to reach from four figures in miles. This will give an idea of the extent of the water area of Lake Macquarie. The margin abounds in delightful scenery, camping grounds, and an abundance of hardwood forests, underneath which extensive coal beds exist.

BELMONT.

The chief places on the Lake are Belmont, Toronto, Teralba, Cockle Creek, and Swansea. Belmont is distant from Newcastle about 14 miles, is reached by road and steamer, and forms an enjoyable buggy drive. For many years it was the great holiday resort for Newcastle people, but of late years on the opposite side, has gradually crept into prominence, and become the fashionable Lake side retreat. At present Toronto is accessible by rail and steamer only, but in the course of this year a bridge is to be be constructed across Fennell's Bay, at a cost of about £5,000, which will connect the township with Teralba, and form direct road communication with Newcastle and suburbs, as well as the surrounding districts. The distance by road will be about 14 miles, making another pretty drive for the people of the district—who have the choice of two roads via Cardiff or Wallsend. From the time of reaching Cockle Creek till arrival at Toronto the road runs close to the margin of the Lake, affording exceedingly fine scenery. At Toronto there are numerous attractions for holiday makers. Boating, fishing, shooting, and coursing being good, whilst the fine dancing pavilions, pleasure grounds, and the Pictorial Tea Gardens afford amusement for those who prefer a quiet day's enjoyment. The Toronto Hotel is a fine structure, illuminated at night by the electric light. There is also a School of Arts, a fine hall, Public School, and three stores, with orchards and flower gardens surrounding the township.

TERALBA AND COCKLE CREEK

Are reached by road, also by the Great Northern Railway, which passes through, and at both places there are railway stations. At the former the Pacific, Gartlee, and Black's Collieries are situated, also two hotels, police station, and Petty Sessions Court, whilst the latter embraces the huge works of the Sulphide Corporation. In close proximity is situated Speirs' Point, all of which make exceedingly pleasant drives by buggy or other conveyances.

SUGARLOAF MOUNTAIN.

From the summit of which magnificent scenery is procured, and one of the finest panoramic views extending from Maitland on one side and Newcastle on the other. The Mount is situated in the vicinity of West Wallsend, and takes about 1¾ hours to reach by buggy from Newcastle. During the summer season special excursions by coach are arranged by Messrs. Arkins, livery stable proprietors, to the Sugarloaf, which are well patronised.

KING'S CAVES.

About three hours' drive from Newcastle by road, are situated on the Glo'ster-road, and within six miles of Raymond Terrace. In the olden days these caves became notorious as a hiding place for bushrangers. There are many interesting features to be met with in exploring these caves.

BLACK HILL.

Near Minmi, is another spot which has attracted a good deal of attention from those who have conveyances, and prefer driving to railroad excursions.

BULL'S GARDENS.

Which are situated off the main road to Belmont, are close to Charlestown, and afford a pleasurable drive from the city. Here there is good accommodation for man and beast, and with the botanical specimens, and orchard harvests to be reaped, the gardens have long been a favorite place for driving to. Refreshments can be procured, and the Misses Bull endeavor to make the outing an enjoyable one, in which they invariably succeed.

RAYMOND TERRACE.

About two hours' drive from Newcastle, and affords an enjoyable outing—the scenery along the road being varied and interesting, embracing as it does river, mountain and vale. There are several routes, one of which especially embraces Miller's Forest, and those districts which are most seriously affected by the floods in the Hunter River. Even at the present time traces of the devastation caused by the last big flood are discernible here and there, along the route.

SAWYER'S POINT.

About four hours' drive from Newcastle, is situated near Port Stephens, and affords a real good day's outing. The road generally taken is via Hexham, Tomago, and Raymond Terrace, the scenery along which is of a varied and interesting nature.

DUDLEY.

In the vicinity of which there are a number of Collieries, is about 1¼ hours' drive from Newcastle, and is reached via Adamstown and Charlestown, jutting off the main road to Belmont to the north of Charlestown. There are numerous orchards and gardens in the vicinity, as well as a splendid ocean beach.

TOMAGO.

Situated on the Hunter, is the favorite riverside resort, and is reached by steamer and road—on either route the scenery is well worth seeing. On public holidays special excursion steamers ply thence from Newcastle, conveying large numbers of passengers, who put in the day dancing in the pavilion, gathering wild flowers, or in other ways exploring the surrounding woodlands. It is also a favorite spot for moonlight excursions.

In addition to the foregoing there are numerous other places within easy driving distances, all of which are well worth visiting.

Prime Minister: Hon. EDMUND BARTON, Q.C.

EDMUND BARTON, Q.C.,

The first Prime Minister of the Aust alian Commonwealth, was born at the Glebe, Sydney, on January 18, 1849. After a successful school and University career, he was called to the Bar in 1871. Entering Parliament in 1879, he became Speaker of the Legislative Assembly from 1883 to 1887, when he voluntarily retired. Mr. Barton then accepted a seat in the Legislative Council. He was Attorney-General in the Dibbs Ministry. At the Federal Convention of 1891 he assisted Sir Samuel Griffith to frame a Constitntion. On the formation of the second Dibbs Ministry he resumed office as Attorney-General. The death of Sir Henry Parkes rendered vacant the leadership of the Federal party, and Mr. Barton became Sir Henry's successor. He took up the cause with enthusiasm and singleness of purpose. The cause became identified with the name of Mr. Barton, who was elected at the head of the poll for New South Wales at the Convention elections, and afterwards leader of the Convention. After the Convention had agreed on a scheme, Mr. Barton's next task was to overcome the prejudices of the old politicians and the provincialists in that colony. He stood for Parliament, and got elected in spite of Mr. Reid's efforts to exclude him. But for his courage, perseverance, and self-sacrifice in the Legislative Assembly and before the public the cause would not have been won. Mr. Barton has always put private business aside when there was public duty to be done. He has more than once sat on the Bench as an Acting-Supreme Court Judge in New South Wales. When Lord Hopetoun, the first Governor-General, commissioned Sir William Lyne to form a Ministry, the latter almost immediately saw Mr. Barton, and invited him to become a member. Later, however, it became evident that the prominent Federalists of Australia regarded Mr. Barton as the fitter man to be the Premier of the first Federal Ministry. Sir William Lyne thereupon informed the Governor-General that he had decided not to form a Ministry, and advised Lord Hopetoun to send for Mr Barton. This was accordingly done. Mr. Barton in turn offered a portfolio in the first Commonwealth Administration to Sir William Lyne. Mr. Barton married in Newcastle Miss Ross.

SIR WILLIAM LYNE.

Sir William John Lyne, K.C.M.G., the Premier of New South Wales, is the son of the late Mr. John Lyne, of Gala, Tasmania. He was born at Apslawn, Tasmania, in 1844. At an early age he went to Queensland, and took up pastoral country on the Gulf of Carpentaria. Then he returned to Tasmania, and was clerk in 1875 of Glamorgan Municipal Council. Next he went to New South Wales, and became interested in a run on the Murray. In 1880 he became a member of the New South Wales Parliament, and has been there ever since as member for The Hume. He held office three times under Sir George Dibbs, and once under Sir Patrick Jennings. On the retirement of Sir George Dibbs from political life, Mr. Lyne became leader of the Protectionists, but while Federation was the topic of the day he held second place to Mr. Barton. When the five years' rule of Mr. Reid came to an end, with the concurrence of Mr. Barton, who reserved himself for the Commonwealth politics and a place in the Federal Parliament, and with the assistance of the Labor party, Mr. Lyne, as he then was, stepped into power. Sir William Lyne is, in a physical sense, one of the big men of the New South Wales Parliament. He has shown plenty of administrative go as head of the Government. Both the plague and the question of sending troops to South Africa were handled by him in vigorous style. Sir William Lyne received knighthood last year, partly in recognition of his many years' public service, and partly to mark his energy over the South African question. Lady Lyne is the daughter of Mr. Edward Carrshaw, of Glamorgan, Tasmania. Her marriage with Sir William Lyne took place in 1870. During both Federal campaigns Sir William Lyne opposed the Bills on the ground that they did not sufficiently protect the interest of New South Wales. It is believed that Sir William Lyne will prove a very strong member of the first Federal Ministry.

SIR GEORGE TURNER.

The Right Hon. Sir George Turner, K.C M.G., Premier of Victoria, was born at Melbourne in 1851, and was educated there. He practised as a solicitor and barrister, and was elected a member of the Victorian Parliament for St. Kilda in 1889. Two years later he took office as Commissioner of Customs, and continued to hold that post while Mr. Shiels was reconstructing the Munro Ministry. He has also held office as Solicitor-General and Minister of Health. He became leader of the Opposition in 1894, and on his motion the Patterson Government was defeated. At the general election which followed, his party returned to power, and he became Premier in September of that year. He has been a loyal supporter of Federation in his colony, which approved of both Bills by enormous majorities: results largely caused by his efforts. On going to England in 1897 he was made a Privy Councillor, and received an honorary degree at Cambridge University. When Sir William Lyne invited Sir George Turner to come to Sydney for the purpose of considering the formation of the first Federal Ministry, Sir George Turner did not conceal his opinion that Mr. Barton should be at the head thereof; a view which subsequently was confirmed by the event. Sir George Turner is a sturdy type of the practical politician, and will be a strong member of the first Ministry of the Commonwealth. Mr. Barton sent Sir George Turner a very appreciative telegram when asking him to join the Federal Ministry.

MR. C. C. KINGSTON.

The Right Hon. Charles Cameron Kingston, Q C., LL.D., D.C.L., was born at Adelaide in 1850, and is the younger son of the late Sir George Strickland Kingston, one of the pioneers of 1836. He was educated in Adelaide, and was then articled to Mr. (now Sir) Samuel J. Way, now Chief Justice of South Australia. He was called to the Bar in 1873, and "took silk" in 1889. In 1881 he entered political life as member for West Adelaide, and represented that constituency for nearly 20 years. He formed a Government in 1893, and is distinguished for his liberal political ideas. He has been Minister for Industry, Attorney-General (on three occasions), Chief Secretary, and Premier. He is the first native-born South Australian to become a member of the Privy Council. He took a prominent part in advocating Federation in his colony, was elected chairman of the Convention which framed the first Federal Bill that was submitted to a plebiscite, and was Federal delegate of South Australia in London last year. Mr. Kingston is noted as a keen political fighter, and any Ministry of which he is a member cannot long remain unprogressive.

MR. ALFRED DEAKIN.

The very prominent and talented Federalist, Mr. Alfred Deakin, was born in Melbourne in 1856, and was educated at the Church of England Grammar School there and at Melbourne University. He became a barrister in 1877; was and is prominently associated with journalism, and entered political life as member for West Bourke in 1880. He joined the Service-Berry Ministry in 1883 as Minister for Works and Water Supply. In 1884 he exchanged the latter office for that of Solicitor-General. In 1886 he was elected leader of the Liberal party, and joined Mr. Gillies in forming an Administration, in which he held office as Chief Secretary, Minister for Water Supply and Minister for Health. He has ever taken a lively interest in irrigation as a practical solution of the many Australian difficulties. At the Imperial Conference in London in 1887, Mr. Deakin was the senior representative of Victoria, and was offered and declined the honor of K.C.M.G. He has ever taken a great interest in the union of the colonies, and in 1890 was one of the two representatives of Victoria at the Federation Conference in Melbourne at the instance of the late Sir Henry Parkes. He was also a member of the Federal Convention of 1897, and was his colony's delegate at the final proceedings connected with Federation in London. Mr. Deakin is a man of pronounced and all-round ability, and has all through the Federation campaign been Mr. Barton's right-hand man in Victoria. He is a front rank debater, and Mr. Deakin's long experience in State affairs marks him out as one who will greatly distinguish himself in Federal politics.

MR. J. R. DICKSON.

The Hon. James Robert Dickson, C.M.G., member for Bulimba in the Queensland Assembly, occupied the position of Vice-President of the Executive Council of that colony. Mr. Dickson was Premier of a former Ministry. He was regarded as a safe man, who would never dream of incendiary operations in connection with the Brisbane river. As delegate for his colony in London at the final stages of the Commonwealth Bill he distinguished himself by his desire to have the Bill altered in so far as regarded appeals to the Privy Council, contrary to the wishes of the majority of the delegates who desired that the Bill should as far as possible be endorsed by the Imperial Parliament without important alteration. As the Premier of Queensland (Mr. Philp) did not desire to enter Federal politics, Mr. Dickson was selected as Queensland's contribution to the initial Commonwealth Ministry. He had been a prominent figure in the politics of the northern colony for nearly a quarter of a century. He was credited with being a true Federalist, and proved himself to be so, when, Queensland being apparently indifferent to Federation, he as Premier referred the subject to the people of that colony, the result being the acceptance of the Bill. The hon. gentleman did not live long to enjoy the honors conferred upon him. During the Commonwealth Celebrations in Sydney in January, 1901, he was stricken down by a severe illness, which proved fatal.

HON. J. G. DRAKE.

The vacancy in the Federal Ministry caused by the death of Sir James Dickson during the Commonwealth celebrations in Sydney was offered to and accepted by the Hon. J. G. Drake, Minister for Education and Postmaster-General in the State Government of Queensland. The appointment was made about January 25, 1901. The Hon. J. G. Drake, M.L.C., some time ago represented Enoggara electorate in the Legislative Assembly of Queensland. He resigned his seat, and was raised to the Upper House. He afterwards joined the Philp Ministry as Minister for Public Instruction and Postmaster-General. Mr. Drake has always been noted as a staunch Federalist both in Parliament and through the medium of the Press. He was the leader of the Opposition to the reconstructed Governments of Sir Hugh Nelson and the late Sir James Dickson, which succeeded the Griffith-M'Ilwraith Administration. Owing to the predominance of the Labor party, however, his following gradually sank to a few independent members, and when the Labor Ministry formed by Mr. Dawson was defeated after holding office for a very brief period, he became a colleague of Mr. Philp and Sir James Dickson.

SIR JOHN FORREST.

The Right Hon. Sir John Forrest, K.C.M.G., was born near Bunbury, West Australia, in 1847, and was educated at Bishop's School, Perth. He entered the Survey Department of his colony in 1865, and four years later commanded an exploring expedition in search of the lost Leichhardt and party. In 1870 he occupied a similar position in an expedition sent out to explore a telegraph route along the south coast. In 1874 he commanded a party which traversed from Champion Bay to the overland telegraph route, a distance of 2000 miles, a journey that was accomplished without the aid of camels, horses only being used. In 1876 he was appointed Deputy Surveyor-General of West Australia, and conducted a number of surveys. In December, 1890, he was sent to form the first Ministry under responsible government in West Australia, and became its Premier and Treasurer. Notwithstanding Sir John's alleged fondness for the old order of things, he has proved himself a progressive Minister under the new regime which has come into existence since the discovery of gold. His great services to the western colony are indisputable. In 1897, when he went to England on the occasion of the Diamond Jubilee, he was sworn of the Privy Council. When Federation began to assume practical shape, Sir John Forrest, who was a Convention delegate, was not at all enthusiastic on behalf of his colony, believing that its circumstances would not permit of the financial sacrifices which he deemed were inevitable. Finally, however, Sir John saw matters in a different light, and, at the referendum in his colony, was a prominent member of the unexpectedly large majority in that far distant but highly important part of this island continent.

POLITICAL.

Ever since the "early days," the people of the now district of Newcastle have taken a part in the Political life of the Colony. As far back as 1843 the Northumberland Boroughs and the Counties of Northumberland and the Hunter, including Newcastle, East and West Maitland, were also represented in the Legislative Council, which was then a partly elective and partly non-elective Chamber. The first two gentlemen chosen by the electors of the Counties and Boroughs were Messrs W. Foster and D'Arcy Wentworth. The former sat for two and a half years and the latter for five years. Thence up to the dissolution of the Council the District was represented by six other gentlemen, whose names and terms of office appear later on. When the Council was dissolved, the Colony entered on a new era in its history. Responsible Government was obtained by the colonists, and in the first year of the first Parliament (1856) the representatives of the Newcastle District were Messrs. N. Hely, W. H. Piddington and A. W. Scott. The names of the successive members since to the year 1897 appear in the appended list. During the first few years of Parliamentary representation the elections were carried on peacefully and pleasantly; but, as years rolled on, newcomers and younger men entered the political arena, strong in their advocacy of reforms, which were looked upon by the older residents as alarming and dangerous innovations. But, as in other parts of the world, the old order had to make way for the new, and strong party feelings were engendered, so much that those who, prior to the elections, were fast and firm friends, became during the fight for party or man bitter and determined opponents. It is well in the recollection of old residents that here was a time when a Parliamentary election meant not only the return of particular candidates, but a series of free fights at and after the declaration of the poll. It was not an uncommon thing at one time for an aspirant for political honors to deliver an address to the accompaniment of a tin kettle, and he often had a lively time dodging stale eggs and frequently blue metal. After some time, however, the strong feeling that had prevailed was less exhibited, and men were content to argue the right of their various political faiths in a more peaceful manner. As time went on several political parties were formed, and by them the campaign for elections has been mapped out in a more discreet way.

Gardening Information.

JANUARY.

Flower Garden.—Water late in the evening or early in the morning. Plant dahlia bulbs. Trim and tie to stakes those in flower.

Kitchen Garden.—Sow seeds of cabbage, cauliflower, radish, peas, beans, &c. Seeds such as cabbages, &c., should be sown beside a hedge or fence so as to be protected from the hot sun, and kept well watered until the plants are strong. If weather is favorable plant out cabbages for use in autumn and winter.

Orchard.—Keep down weeds by hoeing. Fruit should be gathered as it ripens. Tie vines, and remove suckers weekly.

Farm.—Destroy weeds before the seeds are ripe. Sow sorghum, Cape barley, Imphee, and vetches for green fodder.

FEBRUARY.

Flower Garden.—The driest month of the year. Look to the general appearance of garden.

Kitchen Garden.—Prepare unoccupied portion of garden by digging good manure through it. Transplant cabbage, cauliflower, celery, &c. Sow turnips and peas, French beans, carrots, beets, &c.; previous sowings should be hoed and kept free from weeds.

Orchard.—Tie vines. Prop such limbs as require support. Prepare manure for young trees to be planted out next season.

Farm.—Land should be ploughed for future crops. Sow turnips, sorghum, Cape barley, plant early potatoes—the seed should be left whole.

MARCH.

Flower Garden.—Those plants which flower in autumn look well this month. Clean walks, and tidy borders, clip hedges, tie to stakes any plant that may require it. Plant out winter flowering plants, take up bulbs and store them in sand, ashes or clay.

Kitchen Garden.—Clear away rubbish, weeds, or useless vegetables, dig and manure ground; sow French and kidney beans, broadbeans (a few 12in. apart and about 3 or 4 feet between the rows), red beet, broccoli, cauliflower, Brussels sprouts, celery, carrots, turnips, parsnips, parsley, lettuce, onions. The seed of broccoli, cabbages, herbs, &c., should be sown this month.

Orchard.—Trench and manure land intended to be planted this season. Be careful when digging round fruit trees not to injure the roots, as in many cases they run near the surface.

Farm.—Sow lucerne, clover, rye-grass, oats, wheat, barley, &c.

APRIL.

Flower Garden.—If the weather is wet, plants may be removed or planted with safety. Camellias, gardenias, &c., can now be removed with safety; plant verbenas, petunias, petostrum, &c. Remove all dead matters and look to general appearance, plant bulbs, &c.

Kitchen Garden.—Keep down weeds, manure beds for various vegetables, and plant beans, peas, Brussels sprouts, cabbage, cauliflower, carrots, celery, leek, lettuce, onion, turnips, parsnips, eschalots.

Orchard.—Towards the end of this month young trees should be set in their proper place; keep them well watered until they are well established.

Farm.—Sow lucerne, barley, oats, wheat, vetches. Maize will be fit to pull. Cut and save tobacco as it comes to maturity.

MAY.

Flower Garden.—Plant out as in previous month. Cut back and prune all trees and shrubs. Dahlia bulbs may be taken up and preserved in sand, &c.

Kitchen garden.—Prepare ground by digging in manure. Plant out cabbage, cauliflower, and sow beans, peas, lettuce, onions, radish, and prepare beds for asparagus; choose the best soil in the garden, trench it 18 inches deep, give it plenty manure and salt, have the beds 4 feet wide.

Farm.—Sow barley, oats, wheat, lucerne, &c.

JUNE.

Flower Garden.—Prune roses, and cut off all straggling branches of trees and shrubs. Dig up and divide those plants which require it. Commence planting, &c.

Kitchen Garden.—Sow broad beans, cabbage, endives, carrots, herbs, leek, lettuce, onions, parsnips, peas, radish, turnips, eschalots. Hoe growing crops. Transplant horse radish, eschalots, rhubarb, strawberries, &c.

Orchard.—Prune vines and other fruit trees. It should be borne in mind that it is cheaper to pay a good gardener to prune fruit trees than to have them pruned for nothing by a non-practical man.

JULY.

Flower Garden.—Fill up gaps and thin where overcrowded. Look after lawn. Set and trim borders. Look after walks.

Kitchen Garden.—Plant asparagus, beans, broccoli, cabbage. Plant out cauliflower, egg plants, tomatoes, squashes, leek, onions, peas, potatoes, rhubarb, spinach, turnips.

Orchard.—Finish pruning fruit trees. Plant vine cuttings, also gooseberry and raspberry cuttings. Put in new plants.

Farm.—Plant tobacco, maize, wheat, oats, barley, potatoes, carrots, turnips, lucerne and all kinds of pasture grass, &c.

AUGUST.

Flower Garden —Complete planting and pruning. Plant out hollyhocks, dianthus, pansies, petunias, verbenas, &c. Clip hedges.

Kitchen Garden.—Sow melons, pumpkins, marrows, squashes, chillies, egg plants, leek, lettuce, onion, parsnips, peas, potato, radish, rhubarb, turnip, tomato, parsley. Destroy all plants affected with aphis, &c.

Orchard.—All plants should be in by the end of the month. Keep ground clean, use spray for insects,

Farm.—Plant potatoes, maize, turnips. Weed crops, sow lucerne and all grasses, &c.

SEPTEMBER.

Flower Garden.—Dahlia bulbs which have started to grow may now be planted, they will then flower early. Fill vacancies of all herbaceous plants, sow seeds of all flowering annuals, especially acroclinium, asteras, snapdragon, coxcomb, double daisy, balsam, carnation, coleus, chrysanthemum, dianthus, mignonette, pansy, &c. Tie up climbing plants, and stake tulips, trias, hyacinths, &c.

Kitchen Garden.—The best month for planting. Sow all classes of vegetables—asparagus, beans, beet, cabbage, cauliflower, carrot, celery, cucumber, endives, leek, lettuce, melons, onions, parsnips, peas, capsicum, egg plant, rhubarb, tomato, turnips, marrows.

Orchard.—Trees which are planted lately will require to be well watered if the weather is dry. Orange trees may be planted in cloudy weather. Mulch strawberry and raspberry beds.

Farm.—Weed all growing crops; plant sugarcane, arrowroot, maize, potatoes, sweet potatoes; sow grass of all kinds.

OCTOBER.

Flower Garden.—Continue sowing annuals, water roses and keep them clean; pansies, &c., must be sheltered, clip hedges, stake flowers which require it.

Kitchen Garden.—Sow all classes of vegetables as in last month, transplant cabbage, check aphis on their first appearance.

Orchard.—Thin crop on early peach trees, prop branches which are overloaded with fruit, remove suckers from vines, remove superabundant fruit.

Farm.—Keep the soil among growing crops loose and free from weeds; sow rye for autumn and winter use; gather turnips and mangolds.

NOVEMBER.

Flower Garden.—Plant dahlia bulbs. Bulbs that have finished flowering and getting ripe should be taken up and stored in a dry place; check weeds, &c.

Kitchen Garden.—Melons and cucumbers should be thinned; keep ground clear and free from weeds; sow beans, beet, broccoli, cabbage, carrot, cauliflower, celery, cucumber, lettuce, leek, melons, peas, pumpkins, rhubarb, sweet potatoes, tomato, turnips, marrow.

Orchard.—The China peach must be thinned towards the end of the month so as to allow the others to swell; remove vine suckers, &c.

Farm.—Keep crops clean; to make oaten hay, cut the crop when well in ear, but before the seed matures.

DECEMBER.

Flower Garden.—Mow lawn, clean walks; perpetual roses may be cut back; tie straggling plants; dahlias will require attention.

Kitchen Garden.—Beans, cucumbers, vegetable marrows, &c., should be gathered as soon as they are fit for use. As this is one of the most trying months of the year for the vegetable garden, seeds which are to be set should be put in a shady place and kept watered; sow beans, mustard, cauliflower, carrot, cucumber, celery, lettuce.

Orchard.—Much the same as last month. Tie vines; trench ground for planting next season. It is desirable to take a crop off it before planting the trees.

Farm.—Dig potatoes and protect them from the sun; clean and thin crops, &c.

Judges' Decision Shephard v. Others

Bad-fitting garments in the street
We often pass and often meet;
With painful thoughts we them behold—
We stop, converse, and then are told
That other firms have made them.

Good-fitting garments in the street
We sometimes pass and sometimes meet;
We them at once pronounce a treat,
Our verdict is, they can't be beat
For fit, and style, and workmanship.

We then enquire the name of trade
Where they have had their garments made;
They answer, "SHEPHARD, in the West,
We've tried him, and he's proved the best
To give us satisfaction."

Short Notes.—If you want to take the Judge's eye, secure at once one of Shephard's Indigo Suits, at £4. If you wish to appear fascinating, and be admired by the fair sex, then purchase (at the same price) one of his choice designs—TWEEDS or SERGERETTES—and be careful to select a color suitable to your complexion. His BEAVER Chesterfields, at £4, cannot be beaten for warmth, fit, and general appearance. Ladies! the Costumes are stylish, graceful, and durable—complete, from £4.
